Martins Arrive at Editor's Boxes

A familiar whistling note sounded overhead in the last hour of daylight before the rain came—and my purple martins finally arrived in the "Back 40" miniature game preserve. It went down in the book as Wednesday, March 1.

If I appeared to be getting restless as other folks reported bird arrivals while mine failed to show, well, it was true. I had been deceived into thinking my martins were running late, when as a matter of fact Wednesday's arrival was the earliest with three exceptions in the 10 years I have been keeping a written record on my two boxes. The trouble was, up through 1968 my martins never arrived until March, but for the last three years they came in during February, and so I called them "late" this year, which wasn't really the case.

Earliest martin report this year came from Mrs. Robert Cox of Rosston Rd. on Feb. 16. Mrs. Earl O'Neal placed second with a report the following day, Feb. 17. The state record for sighting first martins of the season is held by C. H. Wilson of Fulton, made in 1969, the date being Feb. 9. Wilson's martins were sighted at 9:30 a.m.; and Roy Martin of Hope just missed tying him with a sighting at 4:15 p.m. the same day.

Now that the martins are beginning to arrive in volume from South America it behooves you to clean out your boxes, dumping all sparrow nests. Martins won't oust other birds from the box, so you've got to choose between sparrows and martins.

Here is the 10-year arrival and departure record of martins at my boxes:

1963 — March 21 — July 17
1964 — March 14 — July 4
1965 — March 6 — July 12
1966 — March 15 — July 4
1967 — March 29 — July 15
1968 — March 18 — July 4
1969 — Feb. 22 — July 5
1970 — Feb. 10 — July 3
1971 — Feb. 26 — July 11
1972 — March 1 —

U.S. Lists MIG as a Probable

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the probable destruction of a North Vietnamese MIG21 in a battle of supersonic jets along the Laotian border, another air strike inside North Vietnam and more heavy B52 raids in South Vietnam's central highlands.

Two Air Force fliers, Lt. Col. Joseph W. Kittinger, 42, of Orlando, Fla., and 1st Lt. Leigh A. Hodgdon, 27, of Reading, Pa., said they saw a missile they fired at one of two MIGs explode and their radar screen indicated a probable kill.

If confirmed by further evaluation of the radar tapes, it would be the third MIG21 reported shot down by U.S. fighters over North Vietnam and Laos since Jan. 19 and the 114th of the war.

Kittinger and Hodgdon were flying one of two F4 Phantoms escorting American bombers on raids against enemy positions in northern Laos. The U.S. Command said two MIG21s crossed the frontier and fired two missiles at Kittinger and Hodgdon but missed them. They fired back at one of the MIGs, and the second one apparently fled.

In another action stemming from U.S. air attacks in Laos, an F105 fighter escorting bombers fired a missile at a North Vietnamese air defense radar site 39 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. The results of the attack were not known, and there was no damage to U.S. aircraft, the command said.

It was the 68th such strike into North Vietnam reported by the U.S. Command this year. U.S. B52 bombers flew 10 missions around Firebase 5 on the western side of the central highlands. It was the third day of heavy B52 attacks in the area.

More small, harassing ground attacks were reported in the central highlands, but there was no major fighting. And for the second successive day, the Communists shelled South Vietnamese positions at the eastern side of the demilitarized zone.

In Cambodia, enemy forces maintained heavy pressure on government troops in the Angkor area with ground attacks and shelling, the Cambodian command reported.

Fighting also erupted in other parts of the country, suggesting the enemy may be breaking out of a two-month fighting lull.

PLAYGROUNDS are where children find them, even if they sometimes happen to be on adult battlegrounds. Despite the Belfast sign, the scene is Newry, Northern Ireland, where boys will still be boys and play in a burnt-out auto as Catholic demonstrators protest British army shootings of civilians.

Violent Weather Hits Area, Temperature Dips

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vigorous cold front moved through Arkansas Wednesday night, touching off a night of violent weather and producing temperature drops of 30 to 40 degrees.

There were numerous reports of large hail, high winds and tornadoes received from across the state. Widespread, minor damage was reported in south, central and eastern portions of the state.

Two persons were injured when a tornado touched down near Gould. State Police said Kenneth Gasoway, 17, and Jennifer Jones, 15, suffered minor injuries when a house trailer they were in was overturned by a tornado. About half of the state was under a severe weather watch or warning of one type or another during the late afternoon and evening hours.

The National Weather Service said tornadoes either touched down or were seen in the air at Nash, Texarkana, Murfreesboro, Lake Village, Warren, Altheimer, Gillett and DeWitt. The tornado near Nash, which is west of Texarkana, heavily damaged a house and a beauty shop. Strong winds knocked out electrical power at Forrest City and the National Weather Service reported that a house was blown onto a road. Winds of 60 miles an hour were reported at DeWitt.

The cold front that produced the violent weather had moved eastward out of the state by this morning. Most of the precipitation in Arkansas had ended by this morning except for some light drizzle in the central and eastern sections.

With temperatures well below freezing in the north, there was a possibility of light snow flurries, mainly in the northeast portion of the state before noon today.

Skies across most of the state are expected to clear by tonight. Friday will be fair and cold, but a warming trend should begin by Friday afternoon.

Highs Wednesday ranged into the 80s. Highs today should be in the 30s north to the 40s elsewhere. Highs Friday are forecast in the 40s to low 50s in the south.

Lows tonight should be in the upper teens north and 20s and 30s in the rest of the state. Overnight lows include Fayetteville 24, Harrison 23, Jonesboro 33, Pine Bluff 37, Texarkana 36, El Dorado 36, Memphis 39, Little Rock 35 and Fort Smith 29.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include a trace at Harrison and Fayetteville, .82 at Little Rock, .67 at El Dorado, .90 at Texarkana, 1.19 at Jonesboro, 1.60 at Pine Bluff and 1.34 at Memphis.

Teen-age Pusher Case Has British in Arms

LONDON (AP) — Some of the British are up in arms because a Turkish court sentenced a 14-year-old British boy to six years and three months in jail for pushing 57 pounds of hashish. The boy, Timothy Davey, said he was trying to help support his mother and her five younger children.

Members of Parliament said Turkey was giving itself a mediaeval image and termed the sentence harsh, brutal and immoral. Newspaper editorials urged mercy.

Timothy also was fined the equivalent of $10,894 at the trial in Istanbul Wednesday. There were three young codefendants: Jean Claude Morisot, 20, and Patrice Buonotti, 20, both French, got 12½ years, and Friedrich Stohl, 17, Austrian, got eight years, four months.

The defense said it would appeal, and the Daily Mail reported that Turkish Foreign Minister Haluk Bayulken gave the British ambassador, Sir Roderick Sarell, a "sympathetic hearing" when he told him the case would have a serious impact on relations between Britain and Turkey.

One British newspaper sided with the Turks. "Feel sorry as you wish," wrote columnist Donald Seaman in the Daily Express, "but don't blame the Turks who know what drugs can do to whole families—never mind boys of 14—and are trying to stamp out their end of a huge, terrifying, growing menace operated by unscrupulous men and women all over the world."

Committee to Decide Education Bill Fate

By JOE HLL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $23-billion higher-education bill and sent it to a conference committee to determine how firmly Congress should legislate against busing of pupils.

The Senate version of the bill, which also authorizes $1.5 billion to help school districts desegregate, was approved on an 88-6 vote Wednesday. The Senate added comparatively mild restrictions on busing.

But the House, acting on the legislation last November, tied to it three stringent antibusing amendments.

Finding a common ground on busing will be one of the major questions, but not the only one, in the conference which is expected to begin in about two weeks.

There also are important differences on the formulas for aid to college students, for federal assistance to colleges and universities, and for paying out federal funds to assist school districts faced with desegregation problems.

The Senate dealt Wednesday with a last-gasp effort to revive the tough antibusing rider sponsored by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., defeating it 48 to 47. This proposal first was tentatively adopted 43 to 40 last Friday, then rejected 50 to 47 Tuesday.

Hopes of the busing foes had been centered on the Griffin proposal which would eliminate the right of federal courts to issue busing orders in school-desegregation cases.

The tough provisions of the House-passed bill would:

—Prohibit use of any federal funds to support busing to achieve desegregation.

—Bar federal agencies from persuading school districts to use their own funds for this purpose.

—Stay, pending final appeals, all busing ordered by courts in desegregation cases.

The mild busing restrictions voted by the Senate were written to tie into the House provisions and cut back their effect.

In the higher-education part of the bill, which contains the bulk of the money authorized, the Senate version contains a brand new formula entitling all college students to $1,400 yearly grants, less family contributions, based on uniform federal standards.

Nixon Ponders Way to Blunt Busing

By GAYLORD SHAW

Associated Press Writer
KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is nearing a decision on the steps his administration will take in an effort to blunt court-ordered busing of children to achieve racial balance in schools.

Soon after his return from China, Nixon began collecting from his aides and Cabinet advisers the pros and cons on a series of options—ranging from a proposed constitutional amendment to more federal intervention in court cases.

When Nixon boarded the presidential jet in Washington Wednesday to fly to his bayside Key Biscayne compound, an aide bounded up the ramp steps behind him carrying two black briefcases.

While spokesmen wouldn't divulge contents, it was virtually certain the briefcases contained material dealing with busing—now emerging as one of the hottest political issues of this election year.

And as the "Spirit of 76" flew toward Florida, Nixon summoned White House aide John Ehrlichman to his cabin, presumably to begin discussions on busing. Sources list these as among the options before the President:

—A constitutional amendment. This would be court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance. But administration officials indicate problems have been encountered in agreeing on suitable wording.

—Legislation. The White House has watched with interest the Senate's hassle over legislation intended to curb busing but has yet to take a public position or propose specific legislation.

—Court intervention. Under this option, the Justice Department could attempt to reverse lower court rulings requiring busing and perhaps intervene in pending cases to clearly establish the administration stance on the issue.

—Televised speech. Under this approach, Nixon would use national television time to discuss the issue and outline his proposed solutions, perhaps including increased funding for schools.

According to Nixon's spokesmen, no decision will be disclosed during his stay in Florida.

Indications are, however, that the President plans to announce his decision before mid-March—perhaps as early as next week.

Officials say the President is not limited to the four most widely discussed options. Nixon could, they say, come up with a package of actions including two or more of the options.

Joining the President for the trip here was daughter Julie Eisenhower, whose husband David is on sea duty. Mrs. Nixon was off to open a Camillia festival in California.

National security adviser Henry A. Kissinger, kingpin of the China strategy, was a late arrival.

The Florida visit was generally described as a low-key affair, with no public appearances in this state.

Six Americans Killed

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that six Americans were killed in combat in Indochina last week, the highest toll in more than two months.

A check of daily battlefield communiques disclosed two more American combat dead during the week, but due to delays in the reporting system they probably will be carried on the weekly casualty summary next week.

The toll of six was two more than the average of four a week for this year. It was the highest weekly toll since Dec. 12-18 when seven Americans were reported killed in action.

The summary reported 56 U.S. troops wounded in action last week, nearly three times that of the previous week and the most since Dec. 5-11 when 56 also were wounded.

Nine U.S. servicemen died of nonhostile causes last week, the command said. This was the highest number in six weeks.

The South Vietnamese command said 360 of its troops were killed and 729 wounded, the highest tolls in three weeks. The command claimed 1,026 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, nearly double the 637 enemy dead claimed the week before.

Plan to Prevent Strikes Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six House Democrats, overpowering their subcommittee, chairman, have joined four Republicans to kill a key compromise bill designed to prevent crippling rail and airline strikes.

Although the Senate is due to consider similar legislation later this month, the action by the House transportation subcommittee wipes out any chance of enacting a train-and-plane bill during this session of Congress.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the transportation panel's parent Commerce committee, said no similar bill will come from his committee now that the subcommittee has rejected the measure offered by Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich.

Backers of granting the President permanent emergency powers for settling rail and airline labor disputes figured their best chance was in getting a bill out of the Commerce Committee. They see no way that the House Labor Committee, which would handle any such Senate legislation would accept amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Thus, the key move by advocates of the Harvey plan was made in the Commerce Committee, where transportation subcommittee Chairman John Jarman, D-Okla., joined four Republicans in favoring the bill. But they were outvoted by six Democratic opponents.

Harvey sought to amend the Railway Labor Act to give the President an "arsenal of weapons" to settle rail and airline labor controversies "without the need for ad hoc congressional action."

Harvey's bill, with bipartisan cosponsorship of more than 70 congressmen, would have let the President use a selective strike as the subject of specific limits and public safeguards, a 30-day cooling-off period, or selection of a final offer as binding settlement. These would be used in any order the President deemed appropriate—and until agreement is reached.

Panel Told Few Deserters Prompted by Moral Issues

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has told a Senate panel studying possible amnesty for Vietnam draft resisters and deserters that only a tiny percentage of those who desert each year are prompted by moral objections to the war.

A law professor, disagreeing in part, says the deserters he interviewed overseas has to a large extent become disillusioned over the contrast between what they had been told about the war and what they saw with their own eyes.

Pentagon and Justice Department officials told Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's Judiciary subcommittee Wednesday there are now more than 50,000 deserters and alleged violators of Selective Service law.

Maj. Gen. Leo Benade, assistant secretary of Defense for personnel, said, however, that of the 30,000 men listed as deserters, only 2,323 have fled to foreign countries. And, only 4.1 per cent of those are believed to have been prompted by political or antiwar feelings.

A Justice Department spokesman said a large number—up to 80 percent—of those refusing induction later have a change of heart and voluntarily submit to the draft, an act which washes out criminal action against them.

Dr. Joseph L. Sax, law professor at the University of Michigan, testified that he was surprised to learn how many deserters had not been opposed to American policy on entering the Army, reflecting instead on conventional acceptance of the war.

But he said answers to the question, "Why did you desert?" frequently emphasized "the sharp difference between what the man had heard and what he saw with his own eyes after he was exposed to the reality of war."

Extension of general amnesty, especially to deserters, was opposed by the Pentagon, and by John H. Geiger, national commander of the American Legion.

Suit Questions Jail Condition

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A class action suit was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court here asking that conditions at the West Memphis City jail be declared unconstitutional.

The suit listed Lester Peden as a plaintiff. The suit said that Peden is an alcoholic and has been "frequently incarcerated" in the jail.

The suit names the chief of police, mayor and custodian of the jail as defendants and asks that persons not be placed in the facility unless it is made clean and sanitary.

French Seize Heroin

PARIS (AP) — French customs agents seized 937 pounds—425 kilograms—of pure heroin aboard a shrimp boat today.

The French Finance Ministry called it the biggest haul in history and the Paris office of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau said this amount would be enough for a one-month supply for every American addict.

French officials placed no value on the drugs. The U.S. Narcotics Bureau said importers pay $10,000-$12,000 a kilogram for 80-90 per cent pure heroin. This would put the price at dockside at $4.25 million to $5.1 million. Users pay up to $250,000 dollars a kilogram when it is finally diluted and split up for retail sale. This would raise the value to $106.25 million.

Marcel Boucan, 57, the captain of the 60-ton shrimp boat Caprice des Temps, sought to commit suicide by leaping into the water in Marseille port where the ship was taken for a search, authorities said. He was pulled out of the water and revived at a hospital. Police said he had written notes saying that his family and crew members were not involved.

Ministry sources said the seizure came as the result of a long watch on Boucan, who was identified as the former captain of a ship known to have been engaged in cigarette smuggling.

When the Caprice left Villefranche, two customs boats overtook her and fired warning shots across her bow when she refused to stop.

Man Killed at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — State Police said Richard Cheshire, 70, of near Jonesboro was killed Wednesday when his car collided head-on with a pickup truck on U.S. 63 seven miles north of here.

The truck was driven by Donald Pyle, 33, of Bono.

Marine Staff Sergeant Billy J. Ingram, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Ingram Jr. of Hope, Ark., has reported for duty with the First Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Station in Iwakuni, Japan. He will be assigned to duties in the Marine Postal Section. He joined the Marine Corps in April 1959. Airman Dennis L. Umfleet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver N. Umfleet of Jacksonville, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas and has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss.

The William Brewer whose name was in the court docket last week is not the William Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brewer of Patmos.

Citizens Committee for Better Quality Schools will meet Thursday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in Hope City Hall courtroom. Reports from all sub-committees will be discussed.

A Senate resolution has proclaimed this week as National Beta Week. There are 45 members in the Hope High School Beta chapter. Students must maintain a B average to be a member of this honorary organization.

Two Hope doctors from the Hope area have been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Re-elected were Forney G. Holt, M.D. and George H. Wright, M.D.

Although tornadoes were reported in areas near Hope there were no reports here. Just a lot of wind, large hail and heavy rain. There was no damage from the hail. For an hour or more electrical service was disrupted for a few seconds at a time. The Experiment Station reported 1.83 inches of rain.

Plant Decision Under Study

Federal Judge Paul X. Williams called for written summations from both sides following a preliminary hearing Thursday in the case of Nucor Corp. of Delaware against Tennessee Forging Steel Services of Hope. The case was filed Feb. 22.

The Delaware firm sought an injunction to halt construction of a steel plant here alleging that two officials of the Tennessee Forging Steel firm, Charles Munn and William White, were former employees and proposed to use trade secrets obtained while employed by Nucor.

Judge Williams indicated he would study the case and would probably render a decision next week.

Approval of Kleindienst Is Slowed by Writer's Charge

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst swore today that at the time of a settlement of antitrust suits against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. he had no knowledge that a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate had made any offer to help finance next August's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst's nomination to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general is pending before the Senate.

He was the first witness as the Senate Judiciary Committee opened hearings into charges relating to the antitrust case against ITT that was settled out of court last July 31.

He also told the committee that he never talked to Mitchell, whose resignation became effective yesterday, about any aspect of the antitrust case.

Kleindienst, as he testified, was flanked on one side by Felix Rohatyn, a New York financier and an ITT director, and on the other side by federal Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

He testified to a series of meetings with Rohatyn beginning in April of last year and said that at Rohatyn's request he arranged for an economic presentation by ITT to McLaren of the consequences if the government required the company to divest itself of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Kleindienst said that subsequently Rohatyn complained to him about what he called McLaren's "hard, stringent, inflexible attitude" toward reaching a settlement, but Kleindienst said he refused to relate these conversations to McLaren.

He said he told Rohatyn that any settlement was a matter to be worked out between the officials of ITT and the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Kleindienst said he wished to declare categorically and specifically that until sometime in December 1971 he did not have any knowledge of reports that an ITT subsidiary had pledged to underwrite in part the cost of the GOP National Convention.

Kleindienst asked the committee to let him testify in reply to charges made by columnist Jack Anderson.

Anderson, also scheduled as a witness, wrote in columns this week that a highly favorable settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co. was made last July after a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate pledged up to $400,000 to help defray costs of the GOP convention in San Diego next August.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said other witnesses called include U.S. Dist. Court Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, and an unidentified representative of ITT.

Eastland said after a meeting Wednesday with Kleindienst that there was nothing to the charges.

He said he saw no threat to Senate confirmation of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Mitchell left the job Wednesday to direct Nixon's re-election campaign.

ITT has said that "there was no deal of any kind to settle our antitrust case and it is unfair to the individuals involved to even suggest such a possibility."

The out-of-court settlement terminated suits in which the Justice Department challenged several of the company's major acquisitions, including Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Anderson, in his columns, linked the settlement to a pledge by the Sheraton Corp. of America, an ITT subsidiary, to help finance the GOP convention in San Diego and pictured both Mitchell and Kleindienst as taking part in the negotiations.

Mitchell has denied this and said he kept out of the antitrust case since the New York law firm in which he and Nixon had been partners represented certain ITT subsidiaries.

Kleindienst, replying last December to an inquiry by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien said the settlement between the Justice Department and ITT was handled exclusively by McLaren as head of the antitrust division.

Charges Officials Had Part in Pledge

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey says allegations that high government officials took part in a settlement of an antitrust suit involving a $400,000 pledge to help finance the Republican National Convention "could be the second Teapot Dome scandal."

"I think this cries out for the full disclosure," McCloskey told an audience Wednesday on the Dartmouth College campus.

Earlier, in Concord, McCloskey said former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who resigned Wednesday to head President Nixon's election campaign, and Richard Kleindienst should "appear before Congress under oath" to answer allegations they took part in the settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Kleindienst, nominated to succeed Mitchell as attorney general, was to testify today at a Senate hearing on the charges.

Columnist Jack Anderson, who wrote that a settlement favorable to ITT was arranged after one of its subsidiary companies pledged up to $400,000 to help finance next August's Republican National Convention, also was to testify.

McCloskey, a liberal Republican from California who is challenging President Nixon in next week's New Hampshire presidential primary, said he filed Wednesday in Concord and Washington a financial statement on his campaign.

He reported receipt of $129-

Wants British Withdrawal

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket in the New Hampshire Primary, has called for immediate withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland.

Peabody said Wednesday the British government should "cease and desist its interment of citizens of Northern Ireland without trial."

"British troops purporting to prevent violence are in fact responsible for the deaths of scores of citizens," he said. "If these troops are withdrawn, the attacks on defenseless children and the murder of citizens would cease."

163 to date for the campaign in New Hampshire and expenditures of $136,310.

of two Roman Catholics in fusillades this week and the recent bombing of a hotel where Catholic politicians were meeting.

Other sources cited the assassination Feb. 8 of a Catholic in Belfast and the finding of a time bomb in a hotel just before the annual dinner-dance of the Catholic Gaelic Athletic Association.

"It could well be that a few people are just having a go," said a government official. "We are keeping a fairly close eye on these incidents, but so far there is no sign of organized activity."

Northern Ireland's Protestant majority for many months has left the task of fighting the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army to British troops and the provincial police. Expectations from time to time that Protestant vigilantes would take to the streets have not materialized. But this week has seen a new upsurge of IRA attacks, with two militiamen murdered at their homes on Tuesday and Wednesday and another man wounded seriously Wednesday night.

Any developing Protestant backlash would probably get a powerful boost if a report in a London paper today turns out to be true.

The Daily Mail, a Conservative paper, said Britain's Conservative Cabinet is about to approve a plan for Northern Ireland under which it would relax the internment without trial of suspected IRA members, take over responsibility for law and order, reorganize the provincial government with representation allotted between the Protestant majority and Catholic minority rather than by elections in the present gerrymandered districts, and would hold a referendum every 10 years or so on whether the people want to join the Irish Republic.

Meanwhile, the killings continued. The bullet-riddled corpses of two teen-age boys were found in an abandoned truck outside a Belfast hospital during the night. Apparently they were victims of a British army sharpshooter defending a police patrol.

Volunteer Army to Be Very Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is heading for an all-volunteer military force with the fewest men in nearly a quarter century and a cost at least $12 billion higher than before the Vietnam war.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says no one can guarantee that higher pay and other new incentives "will suffice to satisfy the need for manpower, without resort to the draft."

But while there are uncertainties, Defense planners aim at ending the draft by mid-1973 and relying on volunteers from then on.

En route to this goal, Laird announced Wednesday he hopes to cut the draft to 50,000 men this year, lowest since 1949 when 9,781 were inducted.

At the same time, Laird said he may need to ask for congressional authority to draft men into the National Guard and reserves as a last resort. But he will propose a number of incentives to avoid this.

The number of men in uniform will level off at 2,358,000 by the mid-1973 date, under President Nixon's new defense budget.

An analysis of Nixon's budget

shows the cost of major military "people" items will total about $27 billion in fiscal 1973. Back in fiscal 1965, the annual bill for pay and allowances, medical care, housing etc., came to about $15 billion for a force of 2,655,000 men.

Thus, just before the United States plunged deeply into the Vietnam ground war, it cost about $12 billion less to pay the "people costs" of a military establishment with nearly 300,000 men more than planned for post-Vietnam.

Some of that increased cost is attributable to inflation and salary boosts that would have been voted anyway. But much of the rise is directly traceable to the Nixon administration's drive for an all-volunteer force.

According to administration theory, the government can attract enough volunteers to military service if:

—Pay is brought more in line with civilian scales;

—The quality of service life is improved by eliminating irritants and expanding fringe benefits, and —The country will accord uninformed men respect.

Sees Shrunk Heads

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II looked at the row of shrunken heads tied to the ceiling and asked her host:

"Does any of this still go on?"

It does not, he assured her.

The heads were on exhibit at the Sarawak Museum, the queen's second stop on her six-hour visit to the Malaysian Borneo State that the white rajahs used to rule.

Princess Anne took a closer look, and her father, Prince Philip, seemed fascinated.

The Brooke family of white rajahs suppressed headhunting among the Ibans and other tribes before World War II, but now and then a Japanese head was taken during the wartime occupation.

With parts of Sarawak still plagued by Communist guerrillas, security for the queen's visit was unobtrusive but firm. She rode in a Daimler imported for the occasion, and that was good news for Chief Minister Abdul Rahman Yakub. It now becomes his official car.

Pryor Favors Amnesty

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Wednesday night that he favored amnesty for persons who have fled outside the country to avoid being drafted.

Pryor, a candidate for U.S. Senate, said a plan should be worked out so the youths could return to their homes.

The congressman made the statement during the taping of KARK-TV's "Challenge '72" program.

On another issue with young-voter appeal, Pryor said he would not support legislation to legalize marijuana.

"At this time I think we should face the marijuana issue squarely," he said. "I would say that I don't think we should penalize a person who has tried one marijuana cigarette. I don't think we should send him off to jail and ruin his entire future."

Pryor said he thought the "pusher" should be penalized very severely.

Gilley Gets Death Penalty

WASHINGTON Pa. (AP) — Paul E. Gilley was sentenced to the electric chair today by the same jury that convicted him Wednesday of first-degree murder in the Yablonski slayings.

Passes Blame in Fraud Scandal

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith says Texas senators and representatives should shoulder the full blame for passing two banking insurance bills that played a part in the stock fraud scandal.

"These bills were rushed through the legislature with insufficient time and with very few dissenting votes," Smith said Wednesday night in a paid political telecast over 19 Texas stations.

"But when they came to the governor's office, they were subjected to a careful analysis ... And after careful consideration, it was my decision, and mine alone, not that of the legislature, but it was my decision that these bills should not become law. And so I vetoed these bills."

"And the only point that my signature appears in connection with this legislation is on this veto document."

Smith proudly displayed his veto message then flashed on the screen pictures of the controversial banking bills that were signed by Speaker Gus Mutsaers, now on trial in Abilene on charges of bribery conspiracy in connection with the bills, and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Smith has acknowledged that he and former state Democratic chairman Dr. Elmer Baum made a quickie $125,000 profit off National Bankers Life Insurance stock with an unsecured loan from now defunct Sharpstown State Bank but he called it only "an investment" made by Baum.

Smith claimed in his speech that his veto of the banking bills "brought Frank Sharp's empire to its knees" after the legislature had passed the bills at Sharp's urging.

Smith's speech Wednesday ended speculation, at least temporarily, that he might call an immediate special session to deal with Texas' political filing fee system which has been declared unconstitutional by federal courts. Smith has said several times he would like to wait until June to call a special session to take care of the state's finances for 1972-73 and other matters. Smith and Secretary of State Bob Bullock contend that this year's primary elections can be financed with the new filing fee schedule plus appropriations from state funds.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has ruled that only the legislature can appropriate money for elections and current appropriations could not be used without specific legislative action.

Bullock appealed to the State Supreme court Wednesday and the court was expected to say today if it would hear arguments in the case.

Television and Local Music Club Meets Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hellzapoppin" arrived as a variety hour special on ABC Wednesday night. A comparison with "Laugh-In" is inevitable. The show was equipped with old jokes, sight gags, showers of feathers, even a character who strongly resembled Ruth Buzzi's forlorn Gladys. And it was produced by Caroline Raskin, for years a producer of "Laugh-In."

There is considerable irony in the relationship. When NBC's "Laugh-In" arrived on the television scene four years ago, it was widely compared with "Hellzapoppin," a stage hit in the 1930s and not so much of a hit movie in the 1940s.

To enjoy such a show, one must appreciate corn and knee-slapping jokes. For example, a Negro man stalked on stage in safari costume announcing, "I am the great black hunter."

When the studio audience laughter subsided, he was asked how to make an elephant shake, to which he replied, "You take two scoops of ice cream ... " the studio audience was in the aisles.

"Laugh-In" humor actually is a cut above that. Actress Lynn Redgrave had a jolly time clowning—she even blacked out a couple of front teeth with chewing gum. Perhaps her greatest moment was when she asked cohosts Jack Cassidy and Ronnie Schell, "Do you mind a gorilla in here?"

"We certainly do," they replied in chorus. "Well, mind this one for awhile," she replied, introucing them to a man in a gorilla suit. The show tried to be mad, merry mildly naughty but it lacked the noise and freedom from inhibitions exhibited by both the original "Hellzapoppin" and "Laugh-In" of its early days.

The comedy team of Stiller and Meara has talent, heart, humor and, apparently, a yearning to possess a nice little situation comedy series. The seeds did not seem to be planted, however, in Wednesday night's episode of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father." It was designed as a pilot demonstration of a series idea.

Anne Meara got into Eddie's house as an employee of a service company that did everything from answering phones to catering dinners to babysitting dogs and children. Everything she touched, of course, went wrong but none of this was particularly amusing. Stiller played the head of the service company and had even less to do.

Somewhere there is a format just waiting to be found by this couple.

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Rap

Dictatorship Long Overdue DEAR HELEN AND SUE: When I was 11, my folks let me stay out till midnight. Now I'm over 13, and have to be in by 10 p.m.

I asked my mother if this wasn't a free country, meaning our home life, and she said, "As of now, we don't have a democracy, it's a dictatorship, and I'm the dictator!" Imagine that!

She caught me snokin' and screamed "I won't have it!"—with a cig in her hand! She found out I did grass, and she asked me why and I told her it's because I get less uptight and feel beautiful. She's goin' blah-blah-blah for a couple of months, and then I find these "downers" in her medicine closet. I'm sick of that line!

I don't have any friends' cause I can't stay out late, and my mother is only interested in her business and making money. There's a lot of yellin' goes on at our house all the time, and my father is no help. I can't go out on school nights, and I sometimes have to baby-sit my stinkin' rotten brother. Even my teachers don't like me, so I get in trouble for talkin' back.

The trouble with society is us teens don't get a say in what happens.

Another thing that's messin' me up is this guy I dig that split up with me. Nobody understands me. So why shouldn't I turn against everybody?—MAD AND MIXED UP

DEAR M AND MU:

Somehow I feel sorrier for your mother than I do for you. She isn't getting much cooperation from a resentful, mixed-up 13-year-old who insists on growing up too soon. A girl who wails, "Nobody understands me!" sometimes brings it on herself by making no effort to understand others...or cooperate with them. Perhaps your mother turned to "dictatorship" because she learned "democracy"—for your—meant taking advantage of the "free" society.—HELEN

DEAR MAD:

At 11, you were allowed to stay out until midnight, when most kids (including me) had curfew around 9. Now, at 13, you've taken up smoking and blowing weed—and you wonder why your mother has started with the discipline! She's long overdue!

You can't get along with your guy, you say the teachers don't like you, and you blame your lack of friends on your parents. Why? I think you've sobbed on too many shoulders when you should concentrate on getting the chip off your own.

Maybe your folks aren't perfect, but neither are you. If you'll get your head together and stop being so resentful, you might find out they're really concerned about you.—SUE

DEAR RAP:

My husband had no complaints about my figure before we were married. And I didn't complain about his either. I still don't (but he's very sensitive because he's short).

Now he tells me I'm too little on top and too big around the hips, and besides my legs are too long. Are there any exercises I can take to correct all this?—NEW BRIDE, 34-24-35.

DEAR BRIDE:

The best exercise might be mental: when you build up your husband's confidence, he'll stop putting you low to bolster his faith in himself. I suspect he subconsciously wants to "bring you down to his size."—HELEN

DEAR BRIDE: Not being that psychological, I'll just say: Tell this critical guy, "What you see is what you get," (and 34-24-35 is better than most!)—SUE

(GOT A PROBLEM? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel—or both, in care of this newspaper, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Judy — While going through the cedar chest this past very cold weekend, I discovered a few perfectly usable, knitted items that need a little mending here and darning there. Can you tell me the easiest way to pick up these loose ends? Thank you much. — M. A., Harrington Park, N.J.

Dear M.A.—I'm a firm believer in resurrecting that favorite old sweater and would be only too happy to help with the mending.

When darning in the ends of wool that have been joined in the middle of a row, thread a sharp needle with one strand of yarn. Now on the wrong side of your work, sew a row up through the knitting for about one inch just catching the top of each loop that is frayed. Never go in and out the sts. from one side of your work to the other. Then sew a row down in the same way and cut off the end of the wool.

If you've got some fraying at a seam, sew the seam first being careful to keep the ends to the wrong side of the work. Then sew these ends along the seam for about one inch, and cut them off.

Approval of Kleindienst Is Slowed by Writer's Charge

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst swore today that at the time of a settlement of antitrust suits against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. he had no knowledge that a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate had made any offer to help finance next August's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst's nomination to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general is pending before the Senate.

He was the first witness as the Senate Judiciary Committee opened hearings into charges relating to the antitrust case against ITT that was settled out of court last July 31.

He also told the committee that he never talked to Mitchell, whose resignation became effective yesterday, about any aspect of the antitrust case. Kleindienst, as he testified, was flanked on one side by Felix Rohatyn, a New York financier and an ITT director, and on the other side by federal Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

He testified to a series of meetings with Rohatyn beginning in April of last year and said that at Rohatyn's request he arranged for an economic presentation by ITT to McLaren of the consequences if the government required the company to divest itself of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Kleindienst said that subsequently Rohatyn complained to him about what he called McLaren's "hard, stringent, inflexible attitude" toward reaching a settlement, but Kleindienst said he refused to relate these conversations to McLaren.

He said he told Rohatyn that any settlement was a matter to be worked out between the officials of ITT and the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Kleindienst said he wished to declare categorically and specifically that until sometime in December 1971 he did not have any knowledge of reports that an ITT subsidiary had pledged to underwrite in part the cost of the GOP National Convention.

Kleindienst asked the committee to let him testify in reply to charges made by columnist Jack Anderson.

Anderson, also scheduled as a witness, wrote in columns this week that a highly favorable settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co. was made last July after a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate pledged up to $400,000 to help defray costs of the GOP convention in San Diego next August.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said other witnesses called include U.S. Dist. Court Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, and an unidentified representative of ITT.

Eastland said after a meeting Wednesday with Kleindienst that there was nothing to the charges.

He said he saw no threat to Senate confirmation of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Mitchell left the job Wednesday to direct Nixon's re-election campaign.

ITT has said that "there was no deal of any kind to settle our antitrust case and it is unfair to the individuals involved to even suggest such a possibility."

The out-of-court settlement terminated suits in which the Justice Department challenged several of the company's major acquisitions, including Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Anderson, in his columns, linked the settlement to a pledge by the Sheraton Corp. of America, an ITT subsidiary, to help finance the GOP convention in San Diego and pictured both Mitchell and Kleindienst as taking part in the negotiations.

Mitchell has denied this and said he kept out of the antitrust case since the New York law firm in which he and Nixon had been partners represented certain ITT subsidiaries.

Kleindienst, replying last December to an inquiry by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien said the settlement between the Justice Department and ITT was handled exclusively by McLaren as head of the antitrust division.

Charges Officials Had Part in Pledge

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey says allegations that high government officials took part in a settlement of an antitrust suit involving a $400,000 pledge to help finance the Republican National Convention "could be the second Teapot Dome scandal."

"I think this cries out for the full disclosure," McCloskey told an audience Wednesday on the Dartmouth College campus. Earlier, in Concord, N.H., McCloskey said former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who resigned Wednesday to head President Nixon's election campaign, and Richard Kleindienst should "appear before Congress under oath" to answer allegations they took part in the settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Kleindienst, nominated to succeed Mitchell as attorney general, was to testify today at a Senate hearing on the charges.

Columnist Jack Anderson, who wrote that a settlement favorable to ITT was arranged after one of its subsidiary companies pledged up to $400,000 to help finance next August's Republican National Convention, also was to testify.

McCloskey, a liberal Republican from California who is challenging President Nixon in next week's New Hampshire presidential primary, said he filed Wednesday in Concord and Washington a financial statement on his campaign.

He reported receipt of $129,

Wants British Withdrawal

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket in the New Hampshire Primary, has called for immediate withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland.

Peabody said Wednesday the British government should "cease and desist its interment of citizens of Northern Ireland without trial."

"British troops purporting to prevent violence are in fact responsible for the deaths of scores of citizens," he said. "If these troops are withdrawn, the attacks on defenseless children and the murder of citizens would cease."

163 to date for the campaign in New Hampshire and expenditures of $136,310.

of two Roman Catholics in fusillades this week and the recent bombing of a hotel where Catholic politicians were meeting.

Other sources cited the assassination Feb. 8 of a Catholic in Belfast and the finding of a time bomb in a hotel just before the annual dinner-dance of the Catholic Gaelic Athletic Association.

"It could well be that a few people are just having a go," said a government official. "We are keeping a fairly close eye on these incidents, but so far there is no sign of organized activity."

Northern Ireland's Protestant majority for many months has left the task of fighting the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army to British troops and the provincial police. Expectations from time to time that Protestant vigilantes would take to the streets have not materialized. But this week has seen a new upsurge of IRA attacks, with two militiamen murdered at their homes on Tuesday and Wednesday and another man wounded seriously Wednesday night.

Any developing Protestant backlash would probably get a powerful boost if a report in a London paper today turns out to be true.

The Daily Mail, a Conservative paper, said Britain's Conservative Cabinet is about to approve a plan for Northern Ireland under which it would relax the internment without trial of suspected IRA members, take over responsibility for law and order, reorganize the provincial government with representation allotted between the Protestant majority and Catholic minority rather than by elections in the present gerrymandered districts, and would hold a referendum every 10 years or so on whether the people want to join the Irish Republic.

Meanwhile, the killings continued. The bullet-riddled corpses of two teen-age boys were found in an abandoned truck outside a Belfast hospital during the night. Apparently they were victims of a British army sharpshooter defending a police patrol.

Volunteer Army to Be Very Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is heading for an all-volunteer military force with the fewest men in nearly a quarter century and a cost at least $12 billion higher than before the Vietnam war.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says no one can guarantee that higher pay and other new incentives "will suffice to satisfy the need for manpower, without resort to the draft."

But while there are uncertainties, Defense planners aim at ending the draft by mid-1973 and relying on volunteers from then on.

En route to this goal, Laird announced Wednesday he hopes to cut the draft to 50,000 men this year, lowest since 1949 when 9,781 were inducted.

At the same time, Laird said he may need to ask for congressional authority to draft men into the National Guard and reserves as a last resort. But he will propose a number of incentives to avoid this.

The number of men in uniform will level off at 2,358,000 by the mid-1973 date, under President Nixon's new defense budget.

An analysis of Nixon's budget

shows the cost of major military "people" items will total about $27 billion in fiscal 1973. Back in fiscal 1965, the annual bill for pay and allowances, medical care, housing etc., came to about $15 billion for a force of 2,655,000 men.

Thus, just before the United States plunged deeply into the Vietnam ground war, it cost about $12 billion less to pay the "people costs" of a military establishment with nearly 300,000 men more than planned for post-Vietnam.

Some of that increased cost is attributable to inflation and salary boosts that would have been voted anyway. But much of the rise is directly traceable to the Nixon administration's drive for an all-volunteer force.

According to administration theory, the government can attract enough volunteers to military service if:

—Pay is brought more in line with civilian scales;

—The quality of service life is improved by eliminating irritants and expanding fringe benefits, and —The country will accord uniformed men respect.

Sees Shrunk Heads

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II looked at the row of shrunken heads tied to the ceiling and asked her host: "Does any of this still go on?"

It does not, he assured her.

The heads were on exhibit at the Sarawak Museum, the queen's second stop on her six-hour visit to the Malaysian Borneo State that the white rajahs used to rule.

Princess Anne took a closer look, and her father, Prince Philip, seemed fascinated.

The Brooke family of white rajahs suppressed headhunting among the Ibans and other tribes before World War II, but now and then a Japanese head was taken during the wartime occupation.

With parts of Sarawak still plagued by Communist guerrillas, security for the queen's visit was unobtrusive but firm. She rode in a Daimler imported for the occasion, and that was good news for Chief Minister Abdul Rahman Yakub. It now becomes his official car.

Pryor Favors Amnesty

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Wednesday night that he favored amnesty for persons who have fled outside the country to avoid being drafted.

Pryor, a candidate for U.S. Senate, said a plan should be worked out so the youths could return to their homes.

The congressman made the statement during the taping of KARK-TV's "Challenge '72" program.

On another issue with young-voter appeal, Pryor said he would not support legislation to legalize marijuana.

"At this time I think we should face the marijuana issue squarely," he said. "I would say that I don't think we should penalize a person who has tried one marijuana cigarette. I don't think we should send him off to jail and ruin his entire future."

Pryor said he thought the "pusher" should be penalized very severely.

Passes Blame in Fraud Scandal

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith says Texas senators and representatives should shoulder the full blame for passing two banking insurance bills that played a part in the stock fraud scandal.

"These bills were rushed through the legislature with insufficient time and with very few dissenting votes," Smith said Wednesday night in a paid political telecast over 19 Texas stations.

"But when they came to the governor's office, they were subjected to a careful analysis ... And after careful consideration, it was my decision, and mine alone, not that of the legislature, but it was my decision that these bills should not become law. And so I vetoed these bills."

"And the only point that my signature appears in connection with this legislation is on this veto document."

Smith proudly displayed his veto message then flashed on the screen pictures of the controversial banking bills that were signed by Speaker Gus Mutscher, now on trial in Abilene on charges of bribery conspiracy in connection with the bills, and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Smith has acknowledged that he and former state Democratic chairman Dr. Elmer Baum made a quickie $125,000 profit off National Bankers Life Insurance stock with an unsecured loan from now defunct Sharpstown State Bank but he called it only "an investment" made by Baum.

Smith claimed in his speech that his veto of the banking bills "brought Frank Sharp's empire to its knees" after the legislature had passed the bills at Sharp's urging.

Smith's speech Wednesday ended speculation, at least temporarily, that he might call an immediate special session to deal with Texas' political filing fee system which has been declared unconstitutional by federal courts. Smith has said several times he would like to wait until June to call a special session to take care of the state's finances for 1972-73 and other matters. Smith and Secretary of State Bob Bullock contend that this year's primary elections can be financed with the new filing fee schedule plus appropriations from state funds.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has ruled that only the legislature can appropriate money for elections and current appropriations could not be used without specific legislative action.

Bullock appealed to the State Supreme court Wednesday and the court was expected to say today if it would hear arguments in the case.

Approval of Kleindienst Is Slowed by Writer's Charge

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst swore today that at the time of a settlement of antitrust suits against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. he had no knowledge that a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate had made any offer to help finance next August's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst's nomination to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general is pending before the Senate.

He was the first witness as the Senate Judiciary Committee opened hearings into charges relating to the antitrust case against ITT that was settled out of court last July 31.

He also told the committee that he never talked to Mitchell, whose resignation became effective yesterday, about any aspect of the antitrust case.

Kleindienst, as he testified, was flanked on one side by Felix Rohatyn, a New York financier and an ITT director, and on the other side by federal Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

He testified to a series of meetings with Rohatyn beginning in April of last year and said that at Rohatyn's request he arranged for an economic presentation by ITT to McLaren of the consequences if the government required the company to divest itself of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Kleindienst said that subsequently Rohatyn complained to him about what he called McLaren's "hard, stringent, inflexible attitude" toward reaching a settlement, but Kleindienst said he refused to relate these conversations to McLaren.

He said he told Rohatyn that any settlement was a matter to be worked out between the officials of ITT and the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Kleindienst said he wished to declare categorically and specifically that until sometime in December 1971 he did not have any knowledge of reports that an ITT subsidiary had pledged to underwrite in part the cost of the GOP National Convention.

Kleindienst asked the committee to let him testify in reply to charges made by columnist Jack Anderson.

Anderson, also scheduled as a witness, wrote in columns this week that a highly favorable settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co. was made last July after a subsidiary of the giant conglomerate pledged up to $400,000 to help defray costs of the GOP convention in San Diego next August.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said other witnesses called include U.S. Dist. Court Judge Richard W. McLaren of Chicago, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, and an unidentified representative of ITT.

Eastland said after a meeting Wednesday with Kleindienst that there was nothing to the charges.

He said he saw no threat to Senate confirmation of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Mitchell left the job Wednesday to direct Nixon's re-election campaign.

ITT has said that "there was no deal of any kind to settle our antitrust case and it is unfair to the individuals involved to even suggest such a possibility."

The out-of-court settlement terminated suits in which the Justice Department challenged several of the company's major acquisitions, including Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Anderson, in his columns, linked the settlement to a pledge by the Sheraton Corp. of America, an ITT subsidiary, to help finance the GOP convention in San Diego and pictured both Mitchell and Kleindienst as taking part in the negotiations.

Mitchell has denied this and said he kept out of the antitrust case since the New York law firm in which he and Nixon had been partners represented certain ITT subsidiaries.

Kleindienst, replying last December to an inquiry by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien said the settlement between the Justice Department and ITT was handled exclusively by McLaren as head of the antitrust division.

Charges Officials Had Part in Pledge

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey says allegations that high government officials took part in a settlement of an antitrust suit involving a $400,000 pledge to help finance the Republican National Convention "could be the second Teapot Dome scandal."

"I think this cries out for the full disclosure," McCloskey told an audience Wednesday on the Dartmouth College campus.

Earlier, in Concord, N.H., McCloskey said former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who resigned Wednesday to head President Nixon's election campaign, and Richard Kleindienst should "appear before Congress under oath" to answer allegations they took part in the settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Kleindienst, nominated to succeed Mitchell as attorney general, was to testify today at a Senate hearing on the charges.

Columnist Jack Anderson, who wrote that a settlement favorable to ITT was arranged after one of its subsidiary companies pledged up to $400,000 to help finance next August's Republican National Convention, also was to testify.

McCloskey, a liberal Republican from California who is challenging President Nixon in next week's New Hampshire presidential primary, said he filed Wednesday in Concord and Washington a financial statement on his campaign.

He reported receipt of $129,

Wants British Withdrawal

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket in the New Hampshire Primary, has called for immediate withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland.

Peabody said Wednesday the British government should "cease and desist its internment of citizens of Northern Ireland without trial."

"British troops purporting to prevent violence are in fact responsible for the deaths of scores of citizens," he said. "If these troops are withdrawn, the attacks on defenseless children and the murder of citizens would cease."

163 to date for the campaign in New Hampshire and expenditures of $136,310.

of two Roman Catholics in fusillades this week and the recent bombing of a hotel where Catholic politicians were meeting.

Other sources cited the assassination Feb. 8 of a Catholic in Belfast and the finding of a time bomb in a hotel just before the annual dinner-dance of the Catholic Gaelic Athletic Association.

"It could well be that a few people are just having a go," said a government official. "We are keeping a fairly close eye on these incidents, but so far there is no sign of organized activity."

Northern Ireland's Protestant majority for many months has left the task of fighting the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army to British troops and the provincial police. Expectations from time to time that Protestant vigilantes would take to the streets have not materialized. But this week has seen a new upsurge of IRA attacks, with two militiamen murdered at their homes on Tuesday and Wednesday and another man wounded seriously Wednesday night.

Any developing Protestant backlash would probably get a powerful boost if a report in a London paper today turns out to be true.

The Daily Mail, a Conservative paper, said Britain's Conservative Cabinet is about to approve a plan for Northern Ireland under which it would relax the internment without trial of suspected IRA members, take over responsibility for law and order, reorganize the provincial government with representation allotted between the Protestant majority and the Catholic minority rather than by elections in the present gerrymandered districts, and would hold a referendum every 10 years or so on whether the people want to join the Irish Republic.

Meanwhile, the killings continued. The bullet-riddled corpses of two teen-age boys were found in an abandoned truck outside a Belfast hospital during the night. Apparently they were victims of a British army sharpshooter defending a police patrol.

Volunteer Army to Be Very Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is heading for an all-volunteer military force with the fewest men in nearly a quarter century and a cost at least $12 billion higher than before the Vietnam war.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says no one can guarantee that higher pay and other new incentives "will suffice to satisfy the need for manpower, without resort to the draft."

But while there are uncertainties, Defense planners aim at ending the draft by mid-1973 and relying on volunteers from then on.

En route to this goal, Laird announced Wednesday he hopes to cut the draft to 50,000 men this year, lowest since 1949 when 9,781 were inducted.

At the same time, Laird said he may need to ask for congressional authority to draft men into the National Guard and reserves as a last resort. But he will propose a number of incentives to avoid this.

The number of men in uniform will level off at 2,358,000 by the mid-1973 date, under President Nixon's new defense budget.

Television and Local Music Club Meets Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "Hellzapoppin'" arrived as a variety hour special on ABC Wednesday night. A comparison with "Laugh-In" is inevitable. The show was equipped with old jokes, sight gags, showers of feathers, even a character who strongly resembled Ruth Buzzi's forlorn Gladys. And it was produced by Caroline Raskin, for years a producer of "Laugh-In."

There is considerable irony in the relationship. When NBC's "Laugh-In" arrived on the television scene four years ago, it was widely compared with "Hellzapoppin," a stage hit in the 1930s and not so much of a hit movie in the 1940s.

To enjoy such a show, one must appreciate corn and knee-slapping jokes. For example, a Negro man stalked on stage in safari costume announcing, "I am the great black hunter."

When the studio audience laughter subsided, he was asked how to make an elephant shake, to which he replied, "You take two scoops of ice cream ..."

"Laugh-In" humor actually is a cut above that.

Actress Lynn Redgrave had a jolly time clowning—she even blacked out a couple of front teeth with chewing gum. Perhaps her greatest moment was when she asked cohosts Jack Cassidy and Ronnie Schell, "Do you mind a gorilla in here?"

"We certainly do," they replied in chorus.

"Well, mind this one for awhile," she replied, introucing them to a man in a gorilla suit. The show tried to be mad, merry mildly naughty but it lacked the noise and freedom from inhibitions exhibited by both the original "Hellzapoppin" and "Laugh-In" of its early days.

The comedy team of Stiller and Meara has talent, heart, humor and, apparently, a yearning to possess a nice little situation comedy series.

The seeds did not seem to be planted, however, in Wednesday night's episode of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father." It was designed as a pilot demonstration of a series idea.

Anne Meara got into Eddie's house as an employee of a service company that did everything from answering phones to catering dinners to babysitting dogs and children. Everything she touched, of course, went wrong but none of this was particularly amusing. Stiller played the head of the service company and had even less to do.

Somewhere there is a format just waiting to be found by this couple.

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Rap

Dictatorship Long Overdue

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

When I was 11, my folks let me stay out till midnight. Now I'm over 13, and have to be in by 10 p.m.

I asked my mother if this wasn't a free country, meaning our home life, and she said, "As of now, we don't have a democracy, it's a dictatorship, and I'm the dictator!" Imagine that!

She caught me smokin' and screamed "I won't have it!"—with a cig in her hand! She found out I did grass, and she asked me why and I told her it's because I get less uptight and feel beautiful. She's goin' blah-blah-blah for a couple of months, and then I find these "downers" in her medicine closet. I'm sick of that line!

I don't have any friends' cause I can't stay out late, and my mother is only interested in her business and making money. There's a lot of yellin' goes on at our house all the time, and my father is no help. I can't go out on school nights, and I sometimes have to baby-sit my stinkin' rotten brother. Even my teachers don't like me, so I get in trouble for talkin' back.

The trouble with society is us teens don't get a say in what happens.

Another thing that's messin' me up is this guy I dig that split up with me. Nobody understands me. So why shouldn't I turn against everybody?—MAD AND MIXED UP

DEAR M AND MU:

Somehow I feel sorrier for your mother than I do for you. She isn't getting much cooperation from a resentful, mixed-up 13-year-old who insists on growing up too soon. A girl who wails, "Nobody understands me!" sometimes brings it on herself by making no effort to understand others...or cooperate with them. Perhaps your mother turned to "dictatorship" because she learned "democracy"—for you—meant taking advantage of the "free" society.—HELEN

DEAR MAD:

At 11, you were allowed to stay out until midnight, when most kids (including me) had curfew around 9. Now, at 13, you've taken up smoking and blowing weed—and you wonder why your mother has started with the discipline! She's long overdue!

You can't get along with your guy, you say the teachers don't like you, and you blame your lack of friends on your parents. Why? I think you've sobbed on too many shoulders when you should concentrate on getting the chip off your own.

Maybe your folks aren't perfect, but neither are you. If you'll get your head together and stop being so resentful, you might find out they're really concerned about you.—SUE

My husband had no complaints about my figure before we were married. And I didn't complain about his either. I still don't (but he's very sensitive because he's short).

Now he tells me I'm too little on top and too big around the hips, and besides my legs are too long. Are there any exercises I can take to correct all this?—NEW BRIDE, 34-24-35.

DEAR BRIDE:

The best exercise might be mental: when you build up your husband's confidence, he'll stop putting you low to bolster his faith in himself. I suspect he subconsciously wants to "bring you down to his size."—HELEN

DEAR BRIDE: Not being that psychological, I'll just say: Tell this critical guy, "What you see is what you get," (and 34-24-35 is better than most!)—SUE

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Judy — While going through the cedar chest this past very cold weekend, I discovered a few perfectly usable, knitted items that need a little mending here and darning there. Can you tell me the easiest way to pick up these loose ends? Thank you much. — M. A., Harrington Park, N.J.

Dear M.A.—I'm a firm believer in resurrecting that favorite old sweater and would be only too happy to help with the mending.

When darning in the ends of wool that have been joined in the middle of a row, thread a sharp needle with one strand of yarn. Now on the wrong side of your work, sew a row up through the knitting for about one inch just catching the top of each loop that is frayed. Never go in and out the sts. from one side of your work to the other. Then sew a row down in the same way and cut off the end of the wool.

If you've got some fraying at a seam, sew the seam first being careful to keep the ends to the wrong side of the work, then sew these ends along the seam for about one inch and cut them off.

Things Tough in Atlantic Coast

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

While some of the country's college basketball teams have secured postseason tournament berths, they're still knocking each other around in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

And the "second season" hasn't even started down there yet.

Maryland's 18th-ranked Terrapins took a 64-56 overtime triumph over Wake Forest Wednesday night and squeezed closer to the leaders in the three-team race.

But even if Maryland happens to overtake co-leaders North Carolina and Virginia by the end of the regular season Saturday, there's still the playoffs to be considered. The winner of that meat grinder, starting March 9, comes out with the conference title and a berth in the NCAA tournament.

South Carolina, a team which knows all about those fierce ACC playoffs, cut loose from the league this year and is enjoying new-found prosperity because of it.

The eighth-ranked Gamecocks, 81-64 victors over Creighton Wednesday night, were invited to the NCAA tourney without having to face the mad ACC merry-go-round.

Fifth-ranked Marquette, which defeated Tulane 73-60; Providence, 73-65 winner over St. John's, N.Y., and Villanova, a 78-75 victor over Notre Dame, were other independent powers chosen as at-large entries for the national tourney.

The other teams selected for the NCAA were idle Wednesday—No. 9 Marshall; No. 10 Florida State; No. 11 Southwestern Louisiana; No. 13 Houston and No. 15 Hawaii.

Three of the five teams who were initial selections for the 16-team NIT field were in action Wednesday night. Syracuse topped Niagara 87-79 in a battle involving two tourney-bound teams. The other selections were St. John's, Fordham and Jacksonville.

Detroit topped Duquesne 79-71 in a match involving two NIT hopeful clubs.

Bob Bodell's six free throws in overtime carried Maryland over Wake Forest after the Deacons had tied the game in regulation on a last-second shot by Pat Kelly.

"It looked like we didn't want to win," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell. "We tried to give it away with stupid, fundamental mistakes at the end. We played better in overtime, but it should never have gone into overtime."

Bodell, who made nine of 11 free throws in the game, sank six straight from the foul line in the final two minutes to clinch Maryland's hard-earned triumph.

South Carolina shot 59 per cent from the floor, dispelling any doubts by Coach Frank McGuire that his Gamecocks might be nervous after the NCAA bid.

"I told my team before the game not to be bothered about the NCAA bid, just go out there and play relaxed," said McGuire.

"We were unable to contain Kevin Joyce," said Creighton Coach Eddie Sutton.

Joyce, the star South Carolina guard, scored a game-high 22 points.

Allie McGuire, who gave the Marquette Warriors an early lead they never lost, wound up with 15 points and shared team-high honors with George Frazier.

Marvin Barnes scored 24 points and grabbed 12 rebounds for Providence; Chris Ford scored 31 to lead Villanova; Dennis DuVal tossed in 29 for Syracuse and Frank Russell led Detroit's victory with 20.

Marquette Gets 1 of 9 Spots Filled by NCAA

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Marquette, the team Coach Al McGuire says has "something extra to try to prove," heads the list of the nine at-large basketball teams that accepted invitations Wednesday to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's university division playoffs.

The fifth-ranked Warriors celebrated their selection Wednesday night by downing Tulane, 73-60. It was the 23rd victory in 24 starts for the Milwaukee-based team.

Rounding out the nine of 25 starting spots to be filled by at-large clubs are South Carolina, the nation's No. 8 team with a 20-4 record; No. 9 Marshall, 23-2; No. 10 Florida State, 23-4; No. 11 Southwest Louisiana, 22-3; No. 13 Houston, 19-6; No. 15 Hawaii, 24-2; Providence, 17-5; and Villanova, 18-6.

Marquette had been rated second and was considered a strong title threat not long ago. But then the Warriors' star center, 6-11 junior Jim Chones, suddenly signed a professional contract with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

McGuire, however, is not about to discount the Warriors' chances.

"I feel as good or better about this one than the last one," he said of his team. "There's something extra to try to prove here. I think the ball players will pick up the slack. "It'll be interesting to be underdogs for a change."

In pairings announced Wednesday by the NCAA, only three of the at-large entries know their opponents for the first round beginning March 11. Regional championships follow March 16-18, and the finals unfold in Los Angeles March 23-25.

Eau Claire Keeps Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eau Claire retained its lead in The Associated Press' college division basketball poll released today—but just barely.

Eau Claire, 21-1, received six first-place votes and a total of 230 points to keep the top spot in rankings by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

But No. 2 Tennessee State, which was 47 points back of the leader last week, surged to within six points of the top spot with three first place votes and 224 points. The Tigers won both their games last week to boost their season mark to 17-1.

Far back in third place in this week's poll, the next-to-last of the season, was Louisiana Tech with 142 points and one first place vote. The next three teams all climbed one notch from last week—Eastern Michigan to No. 4, Alabama State No. 5 and Stephen F. Austin No. 6.

Cheyney State, fourth in last week's rankings, lost one of its three games through Saturday and dropped down to the seventh spot. Akron, which had been No. 8, dropped one of two starts and slipped out of the Top Ten.

The No. 8 spot went to Western Washington and No. 9 to Evansville, each up one place from last week. Kentucky State climbed into the final spot in the Top Ten.

The Top Ten teams in The Associated Press college division basketball poll with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through games of Sat. Feb. 26 and total points on a basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16-14-12-10-9-8, etc.:

1. Eau Claire (6)	21-1	230
2. Tenn. St. (3)	17-1	224
3. La. Tech (1)	21-3	142
4. East. Mich. (1)	21-4	132
5. Ala. St.	22-2	130
6. S.F. Austin	23-2	109
7. Cheyney St.	21-3	108
8. West. Wash.	22-2	103
9. Evansville	20-5	82
10. Ky. St.	19-5	58

Marshall square off in the Midwest regional at New Mexico State, Las Cruces. Hawaii meets Big Sky Conference champ Weber State in the West regional at Idaho State, Pocatello.

The scramble for first-round positions remains wide open, but the regionals now appear to shape up this way:

East—Middle Atlantic Conference champion vs. South Carolina, at William and Mary; Southern Conference champ vs. Villanova, at Princeton; Ivy League champ vs. Providence, at St. John's.

Midwest—Mid-America Conference winner vs. Marquette, at Tennessee; Ohio Valley Conference champ vs. Florida State, at Tennessee.

Midwest—Southwestern Louisiana vs. Marshall; Southwest Conference champion vs. Houston, at New Mexico.

West—Weber State vs. Hawaii; California State-Long Beach vs. Brigham Young, at Idaho State.

Automatically qualifying for regional championship tournaments are the titlists of seven more conferences—Atlantic Coast, Big Eight, Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Pacific Eight, Southeast and West Coast.

B. Robinson Signs for $110,000

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Okay, let's go all you infielders and outfielders—all two of us," joked shortstop Mark Belanger as the Baltimore Orioles held what was supposed to be their first full-squad workout at Miami Wednesday.

Belanger was joking about the paucity of players in the training camp of the American League champion Orioles, who held their first workout without six regulars, a minor league star and a 20-game winning pitcher.

Frank Cashen Baltimore's new general manager, said it would take about $500,000 to bring those eight players—Boog Powell, Dave Johnson, Brooks Robinson, Paul Blair, Don Buford, Merv Rettenmund, Bobby

No Tourney at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The NAIA District 17 regional championships will not be held in Pine Bluff because of racial tensions in that city, according to Austin Smith, chairman of the District 17 executive committee.

The tournament originally had been scheduled for March 6-7 in Pine Bluff. Pine Bluff has been under racial tension since the special session of the legislature refused last month to reconsider the merger of the predominantly black Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff with the University of Arkansas. The merger is to take effect July 1.

Grich and Mike Cuellar—into the fold.

He spent a large chunk of that half-million, about $110,000, to sign Robinson Tuesday, but the veteran third baseman was not in camp for the opening workout. The seven others remain unsigned.

Why so many holdouts at Baltimore? Some factors are the presence of agents to help players in their negotiations, the departure of Frank Robinson and his $130,000 salary and the presence of Cashen, in his first negotiation season since taking over from Harry Dalton as general manager.

Winning the American League pennant the past three seasons has had its effect, too.

In the National League, one team with a major holdout problem is the St. Louis Cardinals. Seven players are missing, including pitchers Jerry Reuss and Santiago Guzman, outfielder Matty Alou, catcher Ted Simmons and third baseman Joe Torre, the National League's Most Valuable Player last season.

Elsewhere, the Montreal Expos were still without two of their top veterans, pitcher Carl Morton and outfielder Rusty Staub. Morton was in camp in West Palm Beach, Staub was out of camp in Houston—but both were unsigned.

Willie Montanez, runnerup for National League rookie-of-the-year honors last season, was still unsigned by the Philadelphia Phillies. He says he's going to bring an agent to camp to help negotiate with general manager John Quinn.

On the other hand, outfielder Rick Reichardt signed with the Chicago White Sox, outfielder Bernie Carbo came to terms with Cincinnati and Atlanta signed third baseman Darrell Evans and outfielder Dusty Baker.

NIT Needs 19 Teams

The next time the Dolphins invade the Garden, they'll be shooting for bigger game in a series of games—the championship in their debut at the National Invitational Tournament.

The Redmen of St. John's, N.Y., already own two records in the NIT—the most appearances, 20, and most titles, four.

Stamps Appears to Be Class of Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Stamps took advantage of a sluggish second half by Jonesboro Westside to defeat the Warriors 72-59 in a first-round game of the state Class A senior boys state basketball tournament in Little Rock Wednesday.

Stamps broke open what had been a close game in the second quarter and coasted on to victory.

Danny Speer poured in 18 points in the second half and finished with 24 points. Mike Edgar led Westside with 23.

In other Class A games Wednesday, Hampton defeated Greenbrier 63-60 and Stephens edged Desha Central 90-89.

Stephens scored 35 points in the final quarter to come from behind and edge Desha Central.

Desha Central led most of the game, holding a 43-39 halftime advantage.

Stephens finally tied the score with 4:52 left on two free throws by Terry Yarbrough and took the lead for good with 1:13 left, also on two free throws by Yarbrough.

Yarbrough finished with 32 points to lead Stephens. David Christian led all scorers with 37 points for Desha Central.

Mike Means scored 31 points and sank two free throws with 15 seconds remaining to lift the Hampton Bulldogs to a hard-earned victory over Greenbrier.

Means, along with Ricky Smith, who hit for 23, led a storming attack in the final period that produced 23 points, while Greenbrier could manage only 10.

Goodrich Rated Tops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The man who once wasn't wanted now has the Los Angeles Lakers wanting for nothing.

Gail Goodrich, once dismissed in the expansion draft, has been one of the National Basketball Association's stand-out guards since coming back to the team in a trade two seasons ago.

And Wednesday night, the dynamic, little player was a star again with a field goal at the four-second mark to give Los Angeles a 109-108 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks.

Goodrich's heroics came shortly after Wilt Chamberlain missed three straight free throws with the Bucks ahead 108-107.

The third toss rimmed the basket, Happy Hairston snared the rebound and fed Goodrich, who delivered the winning goal from 15 feet out.

In the night's other NBA games, it was: Boston 115, Cleveland 105; Seattle 116, Detroit 102; Baltimore 95, Phoenix 90; Philadelphia 108, Buffalo 99 and Houston 108, Cincinnati 96.

Los Angeles had to wipe out a five-point Milwaukee lead in the last 95 seconds.

The Lakers fell behind 108-103 on a shot by Oscar Robertson. Jerry West, who led the winners with 28 points, pulled the Lakers within three on a field goal.

Then Milwaukee's Lucius Allen missed two free throws and Hairston connected to narrow the deficit to 108-107.

John Havlicek led a third-period explosion with 15 points to help Boston win its fourth straight game. The Celtics, who led 53-47 at halftime, scored 39 points in the period and pulled away to an easy victory.

Spencer Haywood and player-coach Len Wilkens teamed to give streaking Seattle its 11th victory in 12 games, lifting the SuperSonics into second place in the Pacific Division. Wilkens wound up with 28 points and Haywood, 27.

Archie Clark scored 14 of his 20 points in the second half as Baltimore rallied to defeat Phoenix. The Bullets were down 56-44 at halftime.

Bob Rule's 20 points led Philadelphia's balanced scoring attack. The center was one of seven 76ers in double figures.

Houston got 26-point performances from Elvin Hayes and Stu Lantz. The Rockets out-rebounded the smaller Royals, 65-45.

Nets Defeat Squires

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — "You learn to live with things," said John Roche, who proved it Wednesday night by scoring 19 points in the fourth quarter and providing the spark the New York Nets needed to defeat the Virginia Squires in American Basketball Association play, 114-111.

What Roche has had to live with is the knowledge his father lies gravely ill in New York's Veteran's Hospital after suffering a stroke two weeks ago. He admits it affected his play during that time, but says he's learned to put things in perspective.

"It takes a while for it to sink in," he admitted. "It seemed unimportant when I missed a jump shot, when you think about the fact you're father is lying sick in bed in a hospital. While he's still gravely ill, you learn to accept it."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Disease Makes Infants Old People

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—In a recent issue of a medical magazine, which was read to a group of student nurses, was an article describing two children who were afflicted with a disease that caused them to age prematurely. They had all of the symptoms of old age including breakdown of skin and body processes, deepening of the voice and matured sexual organs. Unfortunately, none of us can remember the name of it. We would appreciate any help you might give.

Dear Reader—I have no way of knowing what medical journal you may have read but you are probably referring to the disease progeria. This is a very rare disease that turns infants into old people. Aging starts in infancy and suddenly you have a little old man. Usually these patients die in their early teens. Their skin will become wrinkled and sagging, they will be bald or their hair will be gray. Many of them die of heart disease.

There are only about 50 cases of this problem recorded in the medical literature and they are of particular interest because they may serve as a model for aging. That is, they may give us some new clues as to what goes wrong in the body's chemistry or the chemistry related to heredity that causes aging. After all, with the more advanced knowledge that has developed concerning the chromosomes and inheritance, it is possible that chemical corrections can be made.

The only other problem that you might have read about which is in any way similar is Werner's syndrome. This disease usually appears for the first time in late adolescence and then there is rapid aging with most of these individuals dying at about 40, already with the changes we attribute to age.

These two rare abnormalities suggest that there may be a lot more to the aging process than we have always thought. Aging may not be inevitable. If a lot of the characteristics of the cells, organs and body that we attribute to age are truly chemical changes which can be altered then one might suppose that a state of perpetual youth or early maturity could be realized.

A lot of the things we now call aging may simply be disease. We have come to accept in our society that it is all right for older persons to be sick, "it is just part of being old," while in fact it may be just as much an illness as leukemia in young people or rheumatic fever.

The body cells are very complex and function by chemical process that appear to go awry resulting in the changes we call aging, but which in point of fact may occur decades before true aging really should occur.

Culbertson slipped a trifle with his assessment of fines on today's hand. He fined North quite properly for a very unsound jump raise. Then he fined West for a double that should have told South how to make his game contract and South for not finding the play.

In actual defense, West cashed the ace and king of hearts and shifted to a club. South won and promptly cashed his trump ace. So he had to go down one.

South could have made his contract by a complicated play. He could cash his second high club and ruff a heart in dummy. Then he would have to discard a diamond on dummy's king of clubs and ruff dummy's last club.

After that he would be able to play king of diamonds—small diamond to dummy's ace and ruff dummy's last diamond to bring the hand down to a three card ending. He could then lead his jack or nine of trumps and West would be caught in a trump end play.

Where did Ely slip? He forgot to fine East and East was the real criminal. East should play his queen of hearts at trick one, to tell partner where the jack is. West could then underlead his ace to put East in and East could lead a trump and prevent any end plays.

April showers occur frequently for June brides. If cigarettes go up another dime or two a pack, the alleged health problem in connection with them is going to be solved automatically.

PATSY BOOKER, BETTY CROCKER AWARD

The home economic department has been improved this year through careful planning and managing with much time and hard work being involved.

The living room area has a new uplifting appearance, a beautiful gold wall to wall carpet has been installed and beautiful full length white pleated drapes hung.

The kitchen area also has a new look with new curtains being added and several new electrical appliances.

The girls are still in process of improving the department and hope to be able to panel the living room and dressing room soon, and to paint the entire department.

Hervey Takes Over Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The controversial appointment of A.B. "Bud" Hervey as acting director of the Department of Finance and Administration took effect Wednesday when Gov. Dale Bumpers signed a commission of office that Lt. Gov. Bob Riley had refused last week to sign in the governor's absence.

Riley claimed that Hervey was a Republican who worked in the 1968 and 1970 campaigns of then Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. Hervey denied the accusation.

"I'm very sorry he took that position," Bumpers said Wednesday of Riley's refusal to sign the commission.

The governor said he had appointed Hervey for a "very good reason" — he is the only man in the department who has worked in each of the divisions of the agency, giving him a knowledge of the entire operations.

Justice Frank Holt of the Arkansas Supreme Court administered Hervey's oath, the second time the new director had been sworn in.

Holt had sworn him in last week but questions arose at that time about the legality of Hervey's taking office, since his commission with Bumpers' signature was filed with the secretary of state's office on a day when Bumpers was out of state and Riley was constitutionally governor.

It was then that aides of Bumpers tried to get Riley to sign the commission and Riley refused.

Pay Hikes for Policemen

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit policemen will receive a $750-a-year pay raise retroactive to July 1 under terms of a state arbitration award made Tuesday.

The boost will place the annual pay of a patrolman with four years experience at $12,750. A similar arbitration panel awarded a fireman of comparable experience a $12,979 salary last December.

The Detroit Police Officers Association had been bargaining for a $2,000 yearly increase, while the city had budgeted $382 per patrolman before the dispute went to arbitration provided under Michigan law.

Nixon, Chou Discussed
End to War, Prisoners

Editor's Note: The author of the following report is chief AP White House correspondent and accompanied President Nixon on his China trip.

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon talked to Chinese Premier Chou En-lai while in Peking last week about Vietnam peace prospects and possible freedom for American prisoners of war, an administration source says.

The source chatted with reporters Wednesday only on condition that he not be named. But the Boston Globe, which did not attend the briefing, identified the official as Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief national-security adviser.

The official was asked if Nixon and other Americans had sought the good offices of the Chinese in helping resolve Vietnam problems, including the POW question.

He replied that the Americans stated their point of view. Asked if the Chinese said nothing on the topics, the source declined to discuss the subject further.

The source suggested there will be a public announcement within two or three weeks about Chinese-American agreement on a third country where they will establish continuing diplomatic contact far short of formal state relations.

The third country, he emphasized will not be Poland, where American and Chinese representatives have met periodically for a number of years. There has been speculation that Canada would be the prime choice.

Actually, the official said, there is little of overwhelming significance that is likely to be accomplished immediately.

However, he emphasized,

Americans expect the third-country contact point to be very active, particularly as an avenue for carrying out people-to-people exchanges in science, technology, culture, sports, and journalism which both Nixon and Chou promised to facilitate in their Sunday communique issued in Shanghai.

The third-country channel also is expected to be used to promote trade between the two nations.

The communique said the United States and China will keep in close touch through various channels. These will include occasionally sending senior U.S. representatives to Peking "for concrete consultations to further the normalization of relations between the two countries."

This was described by the official as an option for the conduct of serious business. He suggested that from time to time there may be points when further progress in breaking down 22-year-old barriers can only be accomplished by direct talks with Chou and other Peking officials.

The official, reflecting administration worry that a significant segment of the voting public might be less than enthusiastic about the Nixon-Chou Shanghai declaration, said that if Sino-American relations should take a turn for the worse—perhaps through death in the aging top leadership ranks in Peking—Nixon would have given up nothing.

The administration is particularly sensitive to domestic reaction relating to the future of Taiwan.

The official noted that in the communique on the current stronghold of the National Chinese, the mainlanders did not include their traditional denunciation of the U.S. treaty commitment to Taiwan.

In view of that, he said, Nixon and his associates, felt no need to reaffirm the longstanding commitment in the joint statement.

He pictured the Americans as being eager to state their views in positive rather than negative ways, knowing the communique would be published widely throughout the mainland, and anxious to avoid buttressing the Communist government's cold-war picture of the United States as a belligerent capitalist power.

The informant said Chou and his associates were taking domestic political risks of their own by abruptly welcoming Nixon. He said that in the past they had pictured the President as the devil incarnate but, were prepared to join with him in a declaration of peaceful coexistence.

He said the turnaround produced a significant emotional upheaval in China.

The Chinese, the source said, were particularly anxious for the coexistence statement, ranking it second only to the divergent American and Chinese declarations of attitudes toward Taiwan.

The coexistence statement apes word for word a 1955 China-backed declaration of unaligned nations, a document the United States had rejected at the time.

The source said, in so many words, that a lot of things have changed since 1955 and that Nixon and his colleagues saw no reason to balk at the so-called five principles of coexistence inasmuch that they reflect Washington's views and hopes.

South Vietnam Sees No Betrayal

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government says it wasn't betrayed when President Nixon told the Chinese that all American forces ultimately will leave Indochina even without a negotiated settlement of the war.

"We are aware of this," Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam declared, apparently speaking with the approval of President Nguyen Van Thieu. "There is nothing new about this, and we cannot regard it as an act of betrayal."

The section of last Sunday's U.S.-Chinese communique to which Lam referred said that even without a negotiated settlement "the United States envisages the ultimate withdrawal of all U.S. forces from the region consistent with the aim of self-determination for each country of Indochina."

Lam made Saigon's first official comment on the commu-

AND THEY HUFFED and they puffed and they still didn't win a London contest for "Champion Pipesmoker of Great Britain." The eventual winner kept his tobacco burning for 107 minutes, a new British record.

nique in an interview published by Vietnam Press, the government news agency. This appeared to be a way of presenting Thieu's views without committing him to public record.

In general, Lam said of the communique, "No peace-loving person can criticize it because its ultimate goal is to reduce tension in relations between the two big powers, thus avoiding an armed conflict detrimental to both sides."

The Cambodian government also issued its official reaction to the Nixon-Chou En-lai communique. It "noted with satisfaction" the Chinese declaration that all foreign troops should return to their own countries and called on Peking "not to encourage or sustain any aggressive acts on the Cambodian republic from the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong troops presently based on Cambodian territory."

It also applauded the Chinese statement that "all people from all countries have the right to preserve their independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity." It asked Peking to live up to this by ending its support of the government-in-exile of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed Cambodian chief of state whose headquarters now are in Peking.

Prostitute Photography

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California Art Museum agreed to close for one day a display of prostitutes' photographs after the exhibit was picketed by women's liberationists.

Ellen Sandor, national secretary of the National Organization of Women, and about a dozen other women marched outside the museum Wednesday where the E.J. Bellocq photographs, showing prostitutes of 1912 in various stages of dress and undress, are on display.

Museum official Bonnie Baskin said, "They are beautiful—some of them appear the way your grandmother would have as a young girl."

"These pictures are about as lascivious as a dog food ad," she added.

Bellocq, of French origin and believed to have died in 1936, photographed the girls in New Orleans brothels.

Most are fully clothed, naturally posed with flowers and pets, but some are nude.

The demonstrators said they perpetuated the degradation and exploitation of women.

"Why don't you have any photos of the male buyers?" yelled one of the demonstrators.

Miss Baskin consulted with other museum officials and agreed to post the demonstrators' letter of protest next to the display, and to close it on March 8, which is International Women's Day.

"Far out," said Mrs. Sandor, and the demonstrators dispersed.

Negro Seeks House Seat

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry Hawkins, 65, a Negro of Little Rock announced Wednesday that he would be a Democratic candidate for the state House of Representatives.

Hawkins will seek Position 1 in District 3. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1968 and is president of the East End Civic League.

Berrigan Case Continues

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Copies of letters attributed to antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and a nun describe plans to blow up heating tunnels in Washington, D.C., and attempts by his followers to obtain "upwards of several million" dollars from Sweden.

The copies were placed into the record Wednesday at the trial of Berrigan and six others on charges that they conspired to blow up the tunnels, kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and vandalize draft boards.

Boyd F. Douglas Jr., a former inmate at the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary where Berrigan was confined on charges of destroying draft records, said he made the photocopies while serving as an intermediary for letters exchanged by Berrigan and Sister Elizabeth McAllister, one of the other defendants.

The Berrigan letters list an attack on the Washington tunnels as the top antiwar gesture. There was no disclosure whether anything came of the efforts to secure funds from Sweden.

Douglas, 31, was in a work-study program that enabled him to leave the prison for classes at Bucknell University.

One of the Berrigan letters says of Douglas: "His ministrations have been no less than providential and given the setting very nearly heroic."

GRAIN EXPORTS DROP

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Reduced grain exports from Texas ports are costing the state's grain industry millions of dollars, says John J. Seibert, grain marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The impact is already being felt throughout the total industry, from producer to handler, transporter and exporter," said Seibert.

Nixon's Re-election Head Seems Elated

By GREGG HERRINGTON

Associated Press Writer

The head of Richard Nixon's re-election effort says the President's record is so good that they will campaign in all major primary states this spring and throughout the country next fall.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell told newsmen Wednesday on his last day in office that the economy may be the only thing Democrats will have left to attack Nixon on this year. And the economy, he said, is improving.

Mitchell today becomes director of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

The President, Mitchell said at a news conference, will not write off any states as sure-wins for the Democrats or for Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace if he repeats his 1968 effort as a third-party candidate. He said current plans call for entering Nixon's name in all primaries where the ballots include a spot for presidential preference. Strategists have rejected, he said, plans to run favorite-sons in Nixon's place.

Meanwhile in New Hampshire, South Dakota Sen. George McGovern, a candidate in the state's March 7 Democratic primary, predicted a cliff-hanging finish in the election.

"A small number of votes one way or the other can decide this election," McGovern said in Durham Wednesday night asking some 800 University of New Hampshire students for support.

Another candidate in the New Hampshire Democratic contest, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, said in Boston at a $500 a plate fund-raising dinner that he believes the people of New Hampshire will judge him fairly in the primary and won't heed "the viritable drum beat of venom" from conservative publisher William Loeb.

Loeb, publisher of the Manchester Union Leader, New Hampshire's largest daily, has criticized Muskie for allegedly being derisive toward French Americans who comprise 40 per cent of Democratic voters in the state. Muskie denounced Loeb as a coward for the alleged statements and for a derogatory article against Muskie's wife.

Oklahoma to Decide Freeway

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma voters will decide the fate of Gov. David Hall's $250 million highway building bond issue March 7, but it is doubtful that very many of them will know what really makes up the complicated "Freeway 77" plan.

One layman, a college graduate, posed this question to a newsman recently: "Just where will this Freeway 77 be built?"

Freeway 77 is Hall's name for the record bond plan. It is not one freeway project. It is a series of projects, ranging from multilane highways to country road projects. Hall says it is a "free" way to accelerate road development in all 77 of Oklahoma's counties. No tax increase is involved.

The total figure for the plan is $600 million. That total, with the proposed $250 million bond issue, can be reached assuming the $250 million can be used to match federal money at the rate of 30-70.

But figures prepared by Highway Director Chester Brooks show only $123.1 million of the bond revenues can be used for highway construction. The remainder must go into reserve funds and for highway bond debt retirement on the state's turnpikes.

Brooks also says the state won't gain any federal matching funds in the first few years, because Oklahoma already is utilizing all the federal matching funds available.

The bond issue does not provide new revenues to pay for the bonds. The payments will be made from gasoline tax revenues that would have been available even if there had been no Freeway 77.

Thus some portion of the $250 million necessarily must be spent for debt retirement. Oklahoma is building roads to the tune of about $80 million per year with existing tax revenue.

Critics of the bond plan cite these figures repeatedly in urging its defeat. They also note that Hall has yet to nail down priorities and construction dates and they claim he is promising to build roads that would cost at least $3 billion with the proceeds of the bond issue and federal money.

Hall has promised that no new taxes will be required to pay the bonded debt and he has vowed to freeze the Highway Department's general fund appropriation at its current $18.9 million level. The general fund appropriation is the amount of general revenue appropriated by the legislature. As in Arkansas, however, most Highway Department money comes from "special" revenues, such as gasoline taxes, license tags, etc.

Freezing the general fund appropriation would free future growth revenues for education and other state services.

Critics question whether the department can maintain operations on a frozen appropriation, but Hall says costs can be cut in the Highway Department. As evidence, he cites a decrease in employee and administrative costs within the department since he took office.

The bond revenues would be spent during the first five years after its passage, while the $250 million in bonds would be retired over 24 years.

Hall has stressed that the state's turnpike system, which was refinanced in 1965, has tied the state to a 39-year debt that won't be paid off until 2004. "And we'll still be paying toll fees," he said. "Freeway 77 is a free road concept that will lift us out of the dust and mud and into the '70s."

Sen. Leon Field, D-Texhoma, a bond critic, said last week he fears Hall is misleading state voters. "If the election were held next Tuesday, I predict it would lose heavily in my three counties," he said. "Of course, a lot of things can happen between now and March 7. If they keep getting wild promises out, somebody may weaken."

Asked if Hall and bond sponsors have made any wild promises, Field said, "I hope not. I hope they can keep them."

In speeches last week at Madill and Pawnee, Hall scored critics for advocating a gasoline tax increase because "everyone knows that taxes imposed are taxes forever." He said that to match Freeway 77 during the next five years, a 2-1/2 cent additional gasoline tax would be necessary.

Club Hears Recruiter

RICK HARRELL

Lt. Commander Rick Harrell, USN, Commanding Officer Arkansas Recruiting District, presented the program at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting. He was accompanied by CPO Scott McLeod, Naval Recruiter, working in Hope and Texarkana. The program was arranged by Kiwanian John Lester.

Commander Harrell made reference to a recent article in Readers Digest by Senator Margaret Chase Smith in which she made statements concerning the arms capability of our country and that of the USSR.

A film was then shown entitled "The Sons of the People". It was a shortened version of an authentic Russian Military Film. It was made in Russia and first shown about five years ago to restricted groups, but it has since been declassified and copies have been secured for showings outside Russia to any groups interested in seeing it. The film pictures, not actors, but Russian recruits, using a variety of specialized armament, developed by Russian scientist and used by their armed forces.

Having viewed the film one cannot help but be impressed by the arms capabilities of the USSR, nor can one help wondering how our capabilities compare with those of other great powers.

George Wright, Jr., attended his first Kiwanis meeting as a member of the local Club.

Guests were Mrs. Dean Murphy, Bill McKenzie, and Key Clubbers Jack Turner and Bud McLarty.

Storm Hits Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm whirled through the eastern Great Lakes region today, causing a wide variety of unpleasant weather.

Another storm brought rain, sleet and snow to parts of the Far West.

In front of the Great Lakes storm, temperatures soared to the 60s and 70s, and thunderstorms and tornadoes broke out.

A tornado overturned a house trailer and injured two persons at Dumas, Ark. Tornadoes were sighted at two other Arkansas locations. Golf ball-size hail pounded Dewitt, Ark., and half-inch diameter hail peppered Albion, Ill.

Cold air sweeping in behind the storm produced rapid temperature drops of 20 and 30 degrees. Freezing rain and snow fell from northern Michigan to New England.

Typical of the sharp change was Concordia, Kan., where Tuesday's high was 86 degrees. Wednesday it was 29, and today a cold wave warning was in effect.

Only the Southwest enjoyed fair and mild weather.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 23 below zero at Grand Forks, N.D., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Some other reports: Anchorage 6 clear, Atlanta 56 rain, Boston 37 drizzle, Buffalo 45 drizzle, Chicago 18 snow, Cincinnati 59 cloudy, Cleveland 57 cloudy, Dallas 36 clear, Denver 28 partly cloudy, Detroit 31 freezing drizzle, Honolulu 75 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 36 thundershower, Kansas City 20 clear, Los Angeles 69 partly cloudy, Louisville 62 rain, Miami 71 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 6 below, clear; Nashville 62 partly cloudy, New York City 47 cloudy, Philadelphia 61 cloudy, Phoenix 65 clear, Pittsburgh 60 cloudy, St. Louis 26 cloudy, San Francisco 53 rain, Seattle 42 cloudy, Washington 66 cloudy.

Governor Seeks to Aid

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.

Dale Bumpers told about 20 persons from Northeast Arkansas Wednesday that he would try to obtain a one-year exemption for a Manila hospital from federal criteria that have forced the facility to close.

The group met with Bumpers to discuss what could be done to reopen the 13-bed facility, closed in mid-February by the operator, Dr. Eugene Shaneyfelt.

Dr. Roger B. Bost, director of the state Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, said he could not believe a compromise could be reached, but he would work to obtain the waiver requirements.

The criteria, set out by the Health, Education and Welfare Department, establish a number of requirements that hospitals must meet in order to receive federal medical aid and medicare. Shaneyfelt said he could not meet the criteria on the number of registered nurses that he must employ because the nurses are not available.

He said he was forced to close after he was notified that his facility would not receive medicare funds.

THE POOR KANGAROO
WASHINGTON (AP) — Kangaroos are big business in Australia.

About 1 1/2 million are killed yearly in a $23 million plus market, reports the National Geographic Society.

The roos are turned into cans of pet food, athletic shoes and high-fashion boots. Their fur covers toy koala bears and hat bands. Kangaroo tail soup delights gourmets.

Sheepmen in Australia insist kangaroos compete with sheep for the sparse bush and grass. Despite the killing, kangaroos are prolific breeders.

NATION'S NEWEST governor, Democrat Edwin Edwards won Louisiana's election-year opener against the strongest opposition the GOP has yet shown in the Deep South bayou state.

Pay Raises Are Tangled in Pay Board Red Tape

By BROOKS JACKSON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of individual pay raises are being held up in a tangle of red tape at the Pay Board, which says the situation will get better, sometime.

Despite streamlined procedures initiated Jan. 20, the board said Wednesday its backlog of unsettled cases has nearly tripled from about 800 then to 2,219 as of Feb. 25.

Although there was no count of the total number of workers involved, 320 of the pending wage settlements cover more than 5,000 workers each and must be cleared by the board before taking effect.

Executive director Robert Tiernan said in an interview that additional steps are being taken by the board to reduce the growing pile of pending cases.

He said Internal Revenue Service agents are being schooled at special three-day seminars to begin taking over initial handling of cases involving fewer than 1,000 workers, which account for about two-thirds of the backlog, or 1,341 cases.

In line with this, the board's first complete manual of pay regulations is being published this week as an aid to IRS pay specialists.

In addition, Tiernan said, the board's own 130-man staff soon will be able to devote more time to clearing up the load of larger cases.

Right now most of its attention is occupied by settlements covering West Coast dock workers and Ohio state-government employees, he said.

Tiernan said that, despite the swelling backlog, he does not plan to ask for a larger staff unless he has to.

So far this year the staff has been occupied primarily with the board's major decisions on railroad men and aerospace workers and with the task of rewriting pay regulations to conform with the economic-controls law Congress passed last December.

Matters have been delayed further by these revisions in board regulations, which may not take effect for weeks yet. Although the board in recent weeks has announced policy decisions on merit pay, fringe benefits and deferred pay raises, none has been published.

Each must be reduced to legal language by staff lawyers, cleared by a board subcommittee, reviewed by the Cost of Living Council, Internal Revenue Service and the Justice Department, and subjected to 10 days of public comment after being published in the Federal Register.

And things could get worse before they improve.

It took weeks for the board to issue forms for requesting approval of pay increases. Thanks to the revised policies, the forms now must be changed, requiring many of the cases to be sent back for more information.

Bumpers Admits May Be Overoptimistic

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.

Dale Bumpers conceded

Wednesday that he may have been overoptimistic when he said his social services program approved in the recent special legislative session would produce $26 million.

The governor added, however, the state would obtain at least "several million dollars."

Bumpers said the $26 million figure the administration has said is the amount could be obtained in the next 18 months is the potential available to Arkansas, but that he was not saying the state would get it.

The program included legislation to expand services for the mentally and physically handicapped. Many of the proposed programs are designed to be operated at the community level, with community financial support.

In his call for the special session, Bumpers said the state could lose $26 million if it did not act to take advantage of the money available under the Social Security Act.

Announcing for the Republican nomination for governor earlier in the day, former Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock said the actual amount Arkansas would receive would be closer to 26 cents than $26 million.

On another matter at an impromptu news conference, Bumpers declined to discuss findings of the Interlock, Inc., investigations conducted by the attorney general's office and by a three-man team he had appointed. Bumpers said he wanted to hold off answering questions on the subject until "possibly" Friday or Saturday.

He gave no reason for wanting a delay, but an aide said Bumpers may hold a regular news conference on either of those two days.

The impromptu talk with newsmen was cut short because the governor had several appointments to meet.

The standard deduction is up this year. But maybe you should itemize.

Your best buddy Lenny might have told you to itemize your deductions because it would save you more tax dollars.

Your neighbor possibly suggested taking the standard deduction because you'd pay less taxes that way.

And Frank down at the office ... he helps everybody with their return ... what did Frank recommend?

If there's some way to save you money on your income tax, H & R Block will know how to do it.

Itemized and standard deductions are nothing new. We've been preparing returns for years using both. We'll figure out your situation both ways and then prepare your return using the method that's best for you.

You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it yourself (with advice maybe from some other amateur), you can have your tax return prepared with complete confidentiality by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 conveniently located offices.

Each member of H & R Block is warm, friendly and anxious to help you. A visit to H & R Block usually takes just a short time. Once in our office, you sit down over a free cup of coffee and possibly learn things about your income tax that you never knew existed. Things that we know, because income tax returns are our only business.

H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million families we served last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

It means that H & R Block also offers you year 'round tax service for just one low fee, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

Yes, it's true. The standard deduction is up this year.

It's one of the many things we'll consider when we do your return.

Like an Old Fashion Quilting Bee

Girl Scout Troop 311 has been working on a needle craft badge for the past two months. Most of the requirements necessary were used in making the quilt pictured. The girls learned an art fast becoming unknown, quilting. Each of the 24 girls put together one block, using bright colors on the corners, then embroidered her name and age in the center of the block, using the color of the corners. The blocks were joined together with Girl Scout green.

In the picture the quilt is on a frame and each girl is 'tacking' her block. The quilt will be kept in the Troop to be shown in different craft events.

Leaders are Mrs. Gail Sinyard, Mrs. Richard Hogue and Mrs. Kenneth Stone.

Prescott Teacher Is Termed Outstanding

RUSSELLVILLE—Mrs. Ida Purtle of Prescott has been named Arkansas' "Outstanding High School Biology Teacher" reports E.E. Hudson, chairman of the state selection committee.

Hudson, who is an associate professor of natural science at Arkansas Tech, and Sister Pierre Vorster of St. Anne's High School, Charles Burkes of Little Rock, Dr. Neal Buffaloe of State College of Arkansas, and David Moore of Russellville selected her for the honor from among nominees named by "local school" committees.

The program to honor the outstanding biology teacher in Arkansas is sponsored by the National Association of Biology Teachers.

As the state winner, she will be presented a $600 binocular microscope by the American Optical Corporation.

Mrs. Purtle has been a teacher for 22 years with the past 16 having been in science in Prescott. She holds a degree in home economics from Oklahoma State University and a master degree in natural science from the University of Arkansas.

Besides earning the degrees, she has received six National Science Foundation Scholarships to study science.

"I believe that teaching should help develop the worth of the individual student, to give him an awareness and appreciation of his environment and to help him to question and become an independent thinker," states Mrs. Purtle. When questioned about her philosophy of teaching, "Learning should be student-centered rather than teacher-centered."

Mrs. Purtle began an individualized program of instruction in her biology classes last year under the direction of the staff of the Diagnostic and Remedial Center at Magnolia.

Under the program every child is allowed to work at his own rate, penalties are assessed because of that rate, and each child is given a "success experience in learning."

"Individualized instruction tends to put the responsibility of learning on the student at his level and at his rate," states

Spruce Goose to Be Evicted

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Howard Hughes' "Spruce Goose," the controversial giant plywood seaplane that flew only once, is scheduled to be evicted from its roosting spot in a year.

The Harbor Commission refused Tuesday to renew the industrialist's $36,000-a-year lease on the hangar where the plane has rested, almost as hidden from the public as Hughes himself, since its single one-minute flight in 1947. Hughes spokesmen were not available for comment.

The Harbor Commission wants the hangar area for a tanker terminal and gave Hughes Tool Co. until March 4, 1973, to remove the plane, which is eight stories tall, has a wing span of 320 feet and was designed to carry 700 soldiers across the seas.

Mrs. Purtle. "It teaches self discipline which is an important factor in the maturing process." Under her program of instruction, she believes that students experience more success, have less frustrations, have greater grade satisfaction, and thus greater parent satisfaction because the students are participating in class and learning subject matter.

Besides teaching at Prescott, Mrs. Purtle also taught in Okolona High School and Kiowa High School in Oklahoma. She taught home economics in the Oklahoma schools.

She is a member of the Arkansas Education Association, Arkansas Science Teachers Association, American Biology Teachers Association, and Delta Kappa Gamma.

She has served as vice-president and chairman of the Research committee of the ASTA, as secretary of the County Teachers Association, as a member of the district coordinating committee of the AEA, and as president of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Purtle has also served as sponsor of the Prescott High School Photo Club, as an Aerospace Education Officer in the CAP program, and as sponsor of the Future Teachers club.

She has also participated in the Junior Science and Humanities Symposium. She is also a member of the state planning board for the organization.

Life of Doctor's Wife

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that every doctor's wife gets tired of hearing:

"I hate to call you at home, but would you mind waking up your husband and ask him what to do about my husband's hiccupps? They're keeping me awake."

"Is that a new mink coat you're wearing?"

"Oh, you lucky woman. I certainly envy you. I think your husband is the most adorable man on earth."

"Does your husband tell you everything about his patients? I hope not in my case."

"What's Dr. Uptight's bedside manner like when it's his own bedside?"

"Helene, you knew what a doctor's wife's life would be like when you married me. After all, you were a nurse for four years."

"Helene, why are you so insanely jealous of my female patients? I don't even know the color of that woman's eyes. The only thing about her that interests me is her left kidney, and I'm getting pretty bored with that."

"I hate to bother you at home, but my son just swallowed his top."

"Would your husband be annoyed if I tried to reach him at the country club? He seems to spend more time there than at his office."

"With so much flu around I guess you and Vernon will be able to afford a winter as well

Widows Share Their Experiences
And Learn to Help Each Other

By MARY LU ZUBER
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)

— "If only I had someone to talk with, someone who understands," pleads a widow. "It's so lonely," adds another.

"Doctors load you with tranquilizers and tell you'll be all right. That doesn't help."

"You're a fifth wheel. Your friends are nice but ... You're just alone."

These are widows talking, eagerly sharing experiences and problems, reaching out to help others and to be helped.

In only a few minutes of conversation, it's apparent one of their biggest troubles is loneliness. But these women are doing something about that loneliness and other problems widows face. They answered a call to be volunteers with Widowed Inc., a service organization which aims to help people adjust when they lose a mate.

Shirley Wolfer, executive director who lost her husband 16 months ago, started Widowed Inc. in Houston after discovering the organization on a trip to Boston. A board of directors was formed and a call for volunteers brought out more than 50 persons at the organizational meeting.

Margaret Cox, Addie Goldman, Margaret Rosenthal, and Mary K. Wintringham know the traumas of being widowed and they know one of the greatest needs is someone to talk with.

Listen to them:

"I have no family here, no one," says Mrs. Cox. "My husband and I were in the laundry business and we sold it before he died. I don't want to go back into that. Yet I don't have any experience in anything else."

"I'd never worked before. I had done volunteer work and some of the offices offered me jobs. I nearly fainted when I heard the salary. It was so little," says Mrs. Goldman. "Luckily I went into a good field, real estate."

"A widow often thinks she can live a lot more cheaply, but since finances are a big prob-

Lion Olen Overturf and several advanced Boy Scouts were in charge of the Lion's weekly luncheon program Monday at the Town and Country.

Lion Overturf has been Scoutmaster for Troop 92, which is sponsored by the Hope Lions Club, since its beginning.

After opening remarks concerning the boys visit to Ranch Philmont last year Scoutmaster Overturf called on different boys who were guests for the occasion.

Ranch Philmont is in New Mexico and the nearest town is Cimarron, New Mexico.

Different phases of the trip were recounted by the boys present. Allen Foster, seven years in the troop, told about their trials trying to get pack mules up the mountain. Mike Middlebrooks talked about the bus trip to and from camp.

Mike Worthy described the tent city and told about their experiences with bears in their tent.

Dick Overturf talked about climbing Mt. Baldy, camp life, their food and cold mountain stream shower water, and their stop over at West Texas University.

Robin Lee had more to say about camp life, back packing heavy loads up the mountain, and a lot of kidding about the hardship of living in the same tent with the scoutmaster.

Lion Overturf said that the troop was hoping to go on a canoe trip in Canada this summer.

Jim Gary, Chairman and Counsellor for Troop 92, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, was a guest for the program.

Lioness Overturf and Lioness Lee were also guests for the program.

Actress Marlo Thomas Says
Young People Are Idealistic

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Actress Marlo Thomas says she did a lot of soul-searching before she became involved in fund raising for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital at Memphis, Tenn., founded by her father, entertainer Danny Thomas, 10 years ago.

But in the last few years she has become one of its staunchest drum beaters, as national chairman of the door-to-door teen-age drive that accounts for 85 per cent of funds solicited.

Thomas founded the non-sectarian hospital in fulfillment of a vow made in gratitude to St. Jude Thaddeus, patron saint of the hopeless, to whom he had prayed when his career was at a low ebb.

"As his career escalated the early idea of building a small shrine grew larger and larger," Marlo explained. "Soon he was talking about a hospital. But he didn't ask me to become involved. And you just can't take someone's dream and make it yours. I don't commit myself easily. But I can make a difference when I do give a damn."

Giving a damn began when it became obvious she had tremendous appeal to young people, who sent her thousands of fan letters when she was making the television series, "That Girl."

She decided to get involved with the hospital, a little bit.

A little bit led to a whole lot.

Her experience as a young widow, as she tells it, has convinced her the hospital is a beacon and how the teen-age drive will help build a new wing that is needed. The hospital conducts basic and clinical research in catastrophic diseases without charge to the families of patients.

Some of the diseases include leukemia didn't stand a chance but some have been free of all evidence of the disease for almost four years after treatment at the hospital ... there are centers for the study and treatment of eye cancer ... sickle cell anemia ... muscular dystrophy ..."

The hospital's Scientific Advisory Board includes 11 internationally recognized scientists and medical experts who meet annually to review and influence the hospital's research programs.

As Miss Thomas spends more and more time at the hospital talking to parents of hospitalized children and to researchers and doctors, her conversation is punctuated with medical terminology — cell biology ... biochemistry ... virology ... immunology.

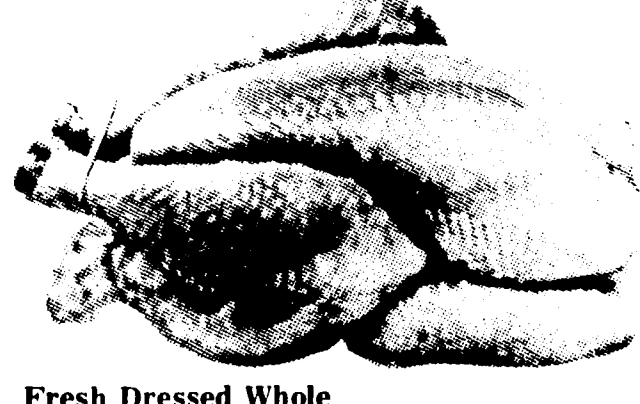

But to teen-agers she recruits at rallies and on local radio-thons in various cities, she gives a message that has become part of her life. "We must take care of each other."

"Young people have been disappointed because of a few rotten kids, but the majority is tremendous. They really want to do something worthwhile. There is a need. They are idealistic and feel they can make a difference."

And they do. In 10 years, two million teen-agers have provided more than $15 million dollars for the hospital. Ninety-three cents of every dollar collected goes to the hospital fund.

In everything I've done in the theatrical or political world I've noticed that those who want to do something will join in," Miss Thomas says. "The others perpetuate the attitude 'What can we do about it all?'"

Central System May Eliminate Exchanges

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Just what is the meaning of the "central market system" for securities trading, as stated in a recent Securities and Exchange Commission report on restructuring the market place?

Does it mean that some of the best known institutions in America, such as the New York Stock Exchange, the Midwest Exchange and the Pacific Exchange should cease to exist?

Some people, including an SEC commissioner, think it does. If this is to be so, that report, "On the future structure of the securities markets," is a more striking document than is appreciated.

Or does it mean a loose federation of autonomous exchanges sharing a national market that will permit investors to benefit from broader, more open trading that will be clearly reported on one all-inclusive tape?

The latter seems to be closer to the interpretation of the institutions, including the NYSE. In fact, they already have been meeting in Washington toward that end, although a participant states that the meetings so far are "not very productive."

Nevertheless, James J. Needham, an SEC commissioner, sees the market restructuring as leading almost inevitably to a situation in which:

"All existing exchange organizations would be combined into a stock corporation. The shares of the new corporation would be issued to all members of exchanges prorata based on the respective values of their seats."

"Simultaneously, the existing exchange organizations would transfer their net assets and operational and self-regulatory responsibilities to the new corporation."

And what then? "... and go out of existence."

Needham expressed these personal views a year ago before the American Management

Association's conference on "financial imperatives for the '70s."

Asked if he still believes that way, the commissioner said he not only did but would repeat his views in another speech this week.

Exchange staffs, he said, "have hangups" about appreciating the full significance of the coming restructuring. "They have to stop thinking like members of the American or New York Stock Exchange. That's past."

Plant Struck at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — About 150 employees of the Frolie Footwear plant here were off their jobs Tuesday in an apparent wildcat strike.

Chester Guest of Jonesboro, a spokesman for the Foot and Shoe Union, said the strike was not union-sanctioned, but the union would negotiate for those on strike.

Simon Nissenbaum, plant manager, said the strike developed jmonday when about 25 employees did not work. Guest said he expected pickets at the plant today.

Reasons for the strike were unclear, but some sources said employees were reacting to automated equipment that had eliminated some jobs.

Some workers were also said to be demanding a pay increase of 10 cents per hour over the existing hourly rate of $1.60.

Wore Kilts, Green Coat

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, showed up in kilts and coat of green, red and blue tartan at the Executive Mansion for a formal gathering given by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for legislators.

Why? "Well," said Wilson, "I'm Scotch-Irish."

Brownie Troop No. 166 made a field trip to Hope Brick Works recently.

ASTRO*GRAPH BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

March 2, 1972

Today in general. Favorably for that long-sought romantic interlude. Pick a special place for you and that certain someone. Words to live by today: RENDEZVOUS and ROMANCE.

ASTRO*GRAPH divides your horoscope into 12 sections. Match letters under your sign to letters in ASTRO*GRAPH. Adjacent number tells what each section means to you today.
